Plan for stronger economy in area

An "agenda for progress" aimed at greater economic and general well-being throughout Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties was put into motion Tuesday night by leaders and citizens of Southwestern Illinois.

The plan, with 12 main points, was launched at the annual meeting of Illinois Metro East, a non-profit industrial development corporation devoted to economic growth.

The meeting was at Fitcher's Restaurant, Belleville.

Features of the program range from promoting this region's economic advantages to working for specific improvements in transportation facilities, development of depressed areas, and cooperation by management and labor in the construction industry.

Praising the plan, the principal speaker, Howard R. Fricke, director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, said that the three-county area, with a population of more than 500,000, "has an abundance of human, geographic and economic resources that provide a fine base for a strong future."

In detailing the progress plan, Illinois Metro East President

William C. Boyne said, "Wide public support for a unified program is vital to the general and economic well-being of the entire region."

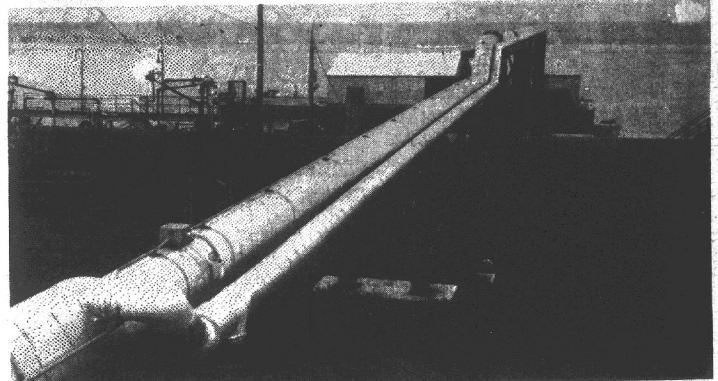

The program includes the following points: Promotion of the area's economic advantages, development of the proposed St. Louis Intercontinental Airport at Columbia-Waterloo, promotion of existing and future industrial parks, development of a cooperative management-labor program in the construction field and betterment of economically depressed areas.

Also, port development and completion of priority highway projects, improvement of rail freight movement throughout the St. Louis Gateway, improvement of the Illinois sector's self-image, further development of vocational education programs, promotion of recreation facilities and tourism with continued development of related facilities, action to complete the Hillside Drainage project and efficient use of natural resources.

Boyer said that "Illinois Metro East will work to publicize the goals, will urge other organizations to back the program, will work with government and other officials to keep projects moving, and will make periodic status reports to the public."

Membership of the development corporation includes 130 individuals, businesses, civic organizations and governmental units in the three-county area. Richard H. Dykes is executive director.

RAPID EXPANSION of the Apex Oil Co. facilities at the Tri-City Regional Port includes this new 14-inch heated pipeline from the port and railroad facilities to the company's new tanks on the east side of the levee. The pipeline now is being used to transfer number 6 fuel oil for Granite City Steel from railroad cars to new six-million-gallon storage tanks. The oil is kept at about 150 degrees throughout the transfer and storage. Announcement of plans for three additional tanks and a truck loading facility was made this week by Apex Terminal Superintendent Lloyd Lewis. (Press-Record Photo)

Charged with killing wife

Mrs. Virginia Johnson, 21, of 4060 Kathy Drive, Apt. 1, was fatally shot in her apartment at 3 a.m. Tuesday and was dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:15 a.m.

Her husband, Anthony Johnson, 27, has been charged by Ponton Beach police with murder.

Officers said Johnson, co-franchisee of the George Lindsey's Family Restaurant, 3305 Namekka Road, and his partner, Tommy Lane, who also resided at the apartment, were together at the apartment before the shooting.

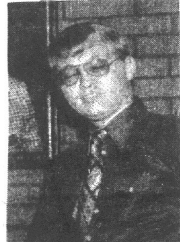

Lane said he was tired and went to bed, leaving Johnson alone to wait for his wife to return home, police related.

Lane said he awoke to hear Johnson and Mrs. Johnson having what sounded like an argument, which ended with a gunshot, authorities alleged.

Police recovered a .22 caliber revolver at the apartment Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Johnson was taken by her husband and Lane to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was pronounced dead. Granite City police were notified and they called Ponton Beach officers to the hospital.

Johnson and Lane were questioned and Johnson was

SUSPECT IN SLAYING. Anthony Johnson, 27, who in March helped buy the George Lindsey's Family Steak House franchise here, was charged this week with murdering his wife.

An autopsy was performed on Mrs. Johnson's body and showed the bullet entered her left shoulder area, went through her left lung, ruptured the great vessels to her heart and lodged in her right lung.

Massive hemorrhage due to a gunshot wound was believed to be the cause of death. An inquest is to be held here.

The Johnsons came here in March along with Lane to take over the franchise for the local restaurant. Lane's family remained in Texas while Lane was establishing residency here, it was reported.

Johnson was taken at 1:10

Solve Madison grocery, furniture store holdups

Two boys, both armed with pistols, robbed two women proprietors of the Cut Rate Market, 1903 Fifth St., Madison, at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

A few minutes later, Madison Chief of Police Frank Dutko arrested two boys nearby.

Jerry Johnson, 17, of 34 Greiner Homes, Madison, was booked on a charge of armed robbery and taken to the county jail at Edwardsville. A 15-year-old juvenile, who also lives in Madison, was taken to the County Detention Home at Edwardsville pending the filing of juvenile charges.

Although the robbery occurred in the county's jurisdiction just outside the Madison city limits, Madison police cars were directed to the area when the robbery was reported and Dutko, driving alone, proceeded down Fourth St.

Near Ewing Avenue, Dutko said, he saw two boys carrying a brown paper sack. Dutko jumped from his car and told the boys to hold their hands. The boy carrying the sack threw it over a fence, Dutko related.

Chief Dutko said the older boy was carrying a .38 caliber pistol which slipped from his belt and fell out his trouser leg while Dutko had the boys covered at gun point. The other was carrying a .22 caliber pistol.

The paper sack contained approximately $147, which had been taken in the robbery, according to sheriff's deputies.

Urge delay on air deadlines

The steel industry on Tuesday urged Congress to extend 1975 Clean Air Act deadlines for at least three years.

"Unrealistic requirements at all levels of government," said delivery problems involving vital equipment jeopardize the steel industry's ability to meet many existing timetables.

The plea was made by Earl W. Mallick, chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute's Committee on Environment, in testimony before the Senate Public Works Committee's Subcommittee on Environmental Pollution.

Mallick, vice president, environmental control, United States Steel Corp., was joined in the Institute's presentation by four other top steel industry pollution control executives, including Fred E. Tucker, vice president-environmental control, National Steel Corp.

Three men were charged this week with armed robbery in connection with the holdup at the E. A. Friedman Furniture and Hardware Co. store, Fifth Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, Monday.

Charged are Henry Byrd, 22, of 909 Jefferson St., Madison, and Carlos Richmond, 23, and Mitchell Ernest Coleman, 24, both of 201 Weaver St., Apt. G, Venice.

Less than $600 was stolen from the store; of the total, about $275 has been recovered, it was reported.

Witnesses said two men entered the store wearing stocking masks over their faces, one carrying a sawed-off shotgun and the other displaying a pistol.

The man with the shotgun told a man employee to get away from the office counter and to lie on the floor. A woman employee then was told to get away from the cash register and to lie down.

Three other men employees, a woman employee and two customers also were told to lie on the floor while the robbers took money from several places in the office area.

The two gunmen then were believed to have entered a car where another man was waiting and they fled west on Fifth Street.

Venice police saw a car they believed to be Byrd's at Klein and Brown streets and followed the car north on Klein and then left onto Bissell Street at a high rate of speed.

The car was chased into an alley behind the 200 block of Weaver Street where it nearly struck a woman walking across the alley at Webster Street.

The auto continued into the street and was stopped.

Those chosen include John R.

Apex Oil Co. of St. Louis which acquired the National Marine liquid terminal facilities at the Tri-City Regional Port last year, has scheduled additional construction at the port, it was announced this week.

In the past year, Apex has constructed several storage tanks, a boiler and office building, an oil pipeline and other improvements.

Construction of three additional tanks and a truck loading rack was promised this week by Lloyd Lewis, Apex terminal superintendent.

Presently, the company is utilizing a new 14-inch heated pipeline to move number six fuel oil from railroad tank cars into the first of the new 6 million gallon storage tanks Apex has constructed.

A second 6-million gallon tank, also for fuel oil, has been completed and will be filled when the first tank is full. The oil is heated to about 150 degrees to enable it to be moved in liquid form. When cool, it is too thick to pump or move through a pipeline. The high temperature is retained through the pipeline and in the tank.

In addition to the two fuel oil tanks which supply Granite City Steel Co., Apex is filling two fertilizer tanks for Allied Chemical Co., one holding 2 million gallons and one with a 1-million gallon capacity.

Also in use is a 300,000 gallon caustic soda solution tank storing material for Dow Chemical Co.

Recently completed was a new boiler and office building which houses the boilers to keep oil in the fuel oil tanks at a constant 150 to 155 degree temperature. Offices also are included. The sizes of the three tanks to be constructed will depend upon the needs of the customers, when contracts for the use of the tanks have been signed, Lewis said. He added steel for the tanks already has been ordered.

Also planned is a truck loading rack for tractor trailer trucks to move the fuel oil from the port to Granite City Steel.

The proposed rack could fill up to four trucks at a time and would be capable of filling 60 tractor-trailers per day.

The rack is expected to be constructed soon and be in full operation within several months, Lewis explained.

The local Apex facility also has all equipment necessary for unloading oil, fertilizer, caustic soda or other liquids from barges, he added.

5 bid on Chouteau building

Bids from five firms for construction of a Chouteau Township highway department building were opened and taken under study by the Chouteau Township Board of Auditors during a special meeting Monday evening.

The auditor set another special meeting for 7 p.m. today to discuss the low bid with the contractor and possibly award a contract for the work.

Ed Moxley Construction Co., Highway 111, was low bidder on a steel building costing $31,894, including construction and materials. The board had requested bids for either a wooden framed or all-metal building.

After reviewing the bids, the auditors decided to construct a metal building and to reject bids on a wood framed structure.

Moore was asked to attend tonight's meeting to answer questions about the building he proposes to erect.

The township plans to build the garage with federal revenue sharing funds on a site which has purchased on the access

Markarian, Sudholt in new July dental class

A new starting date for the three-year course of study at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine and the names of the students designated as members of the 1974-1975 first-year class were announced Wednesday.

Those chosen include John R.

Markarian, 1719 Olive St., and Alex E. Sudholt, 3801 Fair Oaks Drive, both of Granite City.

Dr. Stanley P. Hazen, dean, said the new class will begin the course of study July 1 after a four-day orientation period June 25-28.

He explained the reason for

Citizen rights — safe despite government data files?

Editor's Note: This is the first of five articles on the increasing role computers play in our everyday lives.

SPRINGFIELD—What right does an individual have to keep government from collecting too much information about him?

What right does one have to prevent that information being distributed to other government agencies or organizations?

What right does one have to find out what information is being kept about him?

What right does an individual have to correct or challenge information kept about him in bureaucratic files?

Attention is being focused nationwide on these questions, mostly by legislation before Congress and various state assemblies.

Illinois, though, is lumbering into the issue in the reverse of most others. Legislation is barely in the talking stages, but state government now has at its fingertips a comprehensive plan outlining administrative procedures, technology and education.

The Management Information Division (MID) of the Illinois Department of Finance has recently completed the project, which is aimed at maximizing safeguards for the privacy of information in automated systems.

This department was the appropriate agency to attack the problem of making computer-stored information secure. The Information Division operates the largest computer data center, offering computer time and storing the tapes for about 35 code departments.

Robert Carravella, director of the Secure Automated Facility Environment Project, or Project SAFE, admitted that "what we've done is a study to know what our needs are in terms of administration, in terms of technology, in terms of education."

"But we've got a long way to go, especially in terms of security awareness."

All of the various agencies and departments of state government collect information.

In a rather erratic fashion, the state bureaucracy switched much of its operations to computers.

Three years ago, a master plan called IMPACT '70s set up the blueprint for the consolidation of computer services now realized in MID's data center.

According to one agency user, although it is more efficient, consolidation is less safe by the nature. "The MID people have access to everyone's files," he said.

While Carravella admitted a worker could have access to files "through devious means," he said it is a highly technical matter and that person would have to know all the agency codes.

John Gentile, deputy director of finance under former Gov. Richard Ogilvie and a major architect of the plan, countered that "when properly implemented, the files are more secure together."

Gentile is now assistant postmaster general and serves as consultant to several commissions on privacy.

"It's a question of whether your money is safer if you keep $5 in several purses, or all together in one," he said.

"It depends on how well you guard them."

Information gathering poses serious threats to individual privacy, experts agree, even when done manually. But the computer has intensified the problem. To some, computer-stored information is more secure. To others it makes it even harder for individuals to monitor what the bureaucracy is doing with personal information given to get state services.

According to Carravella, the most serious hazards to privacy in information systems result from human carelessness.

One of the nation's leading experts on security and privacy, Harvard law professor Arthur Miller agreed. "The problem is a human one," he said. "The computer just changes the potential impact."

Few agencies in Illinois have any statutory limitations on their use or handling of information.

The Department of Revenue, which handles income tax, sales tax, motor fuel tax, circuit breaker funds and other taxes, is restricted by state and federal laws on confidentiality.

The Department of Mental Health has some statutory limitations as to who may have access to its files, as does the Department of Law Enforcement.

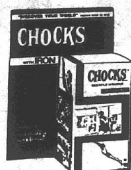

And MID, which operates out of 350 terminals and 28 remote job entry stations, has no control over how its users agencies handle their information, Carravella pointed out.

Help, concern by Salvation Army cited by Mayor Schuler

By PAUL SCHULER
Mayor of Granite City
Before I became as involved with The Salvation Army as I am today — I thought it helped "other people." You know what I mean — bums, or alcoholics. I didn't think it had much, if anything, to do with people like you and me.

But sometimes it does. Take the Army's Family Service Bureaus, for instance. They provide counseling for troubled marriages, troubled families, troubled lives.

Whatever the source of the trouble, the Army believes that God's love can be made to work on it.

In helping families and individuals to "cool it," the Salvation Army wisely employs the best of the old, combined with the best of the new. The new is the best that the social sciences can offer as tools — casework, therapy, counseling.

The old is the spiritual motivation of the Army — love for God expressed in love for man.

The Men's Social Service Centers are probably one of the Army's best known activities. And they have something to do with people like you and me. That big red truck calls at your house to pick up the old furniture you no longer need.

The men at the centers — some of them drifters, down-and-out fellows — work on the trucks, help to recondition the furniture, and in the process begin to re-learn steady work habits. In time, many of them are able to get good jobs in private industry and return to the mainstream of life.

And what happened to that old dining room table that you donated? It's been sold to a young couple, through one of the Army's Family Store.

It's helping the couple to start its first home. When the need exists, the items are given away.

I'm sure you've noticed that many young people today would much rather wear jeans than expensive clothes from a well-known shop. Some of them feel the same way about furniture.

They're proud of the furniture bargains they found at The Salvation Army store — they like them much better than something brand new and high priced. So, The Salvation Army is also contributing something to the ecology movement by recycling useable furniture and at the same time recycling a misused life.

Another area in which The Salvation Army may touch the lives of relatively comfortable, affluent people is in time of disaster. Hurricanes, floods, tornadoes, fires are not respecters of neighborhoods. They may come calling on you or me.

If that should happen in our town, The Salvation Army will be there for the duration of the emergency. It will supply practical help — such as food, clothing, shelter and furniture.

It will show a genuine love for the families affected by the disaster, and help to rekindle hope in their hearts.

One of The Salvation Army's most unusual services — and one not well known — is its Missing Persons Bureau. None of us expects that a member of his family will disappear from sight, but sometimes it happens.

During the past few years, perhaps as a result of the hippie movement, this bureau has received many more inquiries for young people. They are harder to trace than older people because they have not yet established a permanent address, and do not hold a job, or own a car, or have the usual adult community contacts.

Many, however, return home by themselves. Like the 15-year-old who left home wearing her junior high school graduation dress and went to Arizona with another young girl and boy.

When their car broke down, she did what any sensible 15-year-old would do — she called her mother. End one missing persons case.

If they were all as easy to solve as that one, the staff could be cut by 50 per cent. In the New York office, that would mean from 3 people to 1 1/2.

But that little staff in New York is in touch with branches in every state and 86 countries. Last year, over 7,000 people were traced. That's a pretty good record of accomplishment for three people.

Here in the Quad-City Area, The Salvation Army also has a good record of accomplishment with a relatively small staff. There's not time for the whole story, but here are some of the highlights for 1973.

LOOT GARAGE OF TOOLS
An assortment of tools, including screwdrivers, drills, wrenches, test sets and pliers valued at $200, were stolen in a burglary at Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. garage, 2941 Adams St., reported during the weekend by John Bleile, an employee. The burglars climbed a barbed wire fence to enter the garage, the man said.

Recover loot in theft at Venice

A garage at the home of Walter T. Simmons, 1028 Third St., Venice, was burglarized and two bicycles, three boat motors and two gasoline cans were stolen, it was reported to Venice police at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday.

"buck" when experts from the Pentagon were describing the accomplishments of the United States Army.

Judging by the figures of our own Salvation Army here in the Quad-City area, I think this peaceful Army also gets a very big bang for a buck.

Whereas, The Salvation Army is known throughout the world for its love for God, expressed in service to mankind.

Whereas, this Army has helped young and old, the poor and distressed, the lost and bewildered.

Whereas, The Salvation Army offers help for today and hope for tomorrow.

Now, therefore, I, Paul Schuler, mayor, proclaim the period of May 13-19, 1974, as Salvation Army Week in Granite City and urge all citizens to join in honoring the dedicated men and women of The Salvation Army who serve our community so faithfully.

BELLEMORE VILLAGE & MADISON

Opich, Terry, Boyd, Sampson, others hopeful of success in district track

Madison, GCHS North and GCHS South will pit their track and field athletes against 41 other area schools tomorrow and Saturday at the Illinois High School Association district meet at Highland in an attempt to qualify for the 80th annual state track finals at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, May 24-25.

The top two finishers in each event automatically qualify for the state finals. Also advancing will be competitors who finish third, fourth or fifth and who equal or better IHSAA qualifying standards.

The standards are: 440-yard relay (44), two-mile run (9:40), 120-yard high hurdles (1:51), high jump (6-2), 100-yard dash (1:01), pole vault (13-0), 880 run (2:58), shot put (52-0), 880 relay (1:32), discus (150-0), long jump (21-6), triple jump (42-0), 330-yard low hurdles (3:00), mile run (4:29), 220 dash (22-6) and mile relay (3:29).

The 440-yard relay and triple jump are new state events. Also, the low hurdle race has been lengthened from 180 yards to 330.

Many of the district standards have already been topped in regular season competition. To name a few, Madison's Kevin Boyd dashed the 220 in 22.4; North's Ed Opich threw the discus 154-5 and Bob Sampson of the Steelers vaulted 14-5; and South's Dwayne Terry has bettered the mile run time on several occasions.

Competing against the three local high schools at Highland will be Alton, Marquette of Alton, Belleville's Althoff and East and West, Bethalto, Mater Dei, Bunker Hill, Cahokia, Carlyle, Carrollton, Collinsville, Columbia, Duplo, Assumption, East St. Louis Senior and Lincoln, Edwardsville, Freeburg, Gillespie, Greenville, Calhoun (Harding), Highland, St. Paul of Highland, Hillsboro, Jerseyville, Madison, Mt. Carmel, Oakfield, Brooklyn, Mascoutah, Mount Olive, Mulberry Grove, O'Fallon, Piasa, Pleasant Hill, Roxana, Triad, Staunton, Weeslin, Waterloo, and Wood River.

East St. Louis Lincoln and LaGrange Lyons shared the 1973 state team title with 16 points each. Lebanon tied for sixth with 10 points, sparked by distance runner Craig Virgin.

Wet field conditions yesterday caused postponement, for the second consecutive day, of the continuation of Monday's GCHS South vs. GCHS North district baseball game at Wilson Park. The 12-inning contest is scheduled to resume at 4:30 p.m. today.

Don Deterding, North's athletic coordinator, said today, "If the game is rained out today, we will play tomorrow and then one of us will meet Edwardsville for the title on Saturday."

"Assuming," he added, "that the contest is completed today, then the title game will be held at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at Edwardsville's LeClair Field."

Monday's contest was halted because of darkness after 12 innings with a 3-3 deadlock.

North took a 1-0 lead in the first inning Monday when John Scott walked, stole second and scored on a bad throw to first after a safe bunt by Larry Petri.

The Steelers stretched the lead to 3-0 in the second on walks to Ed Schmidt and Mark Davis and singles by Gene Logas and Harvey Breckner. South retaliated in the third. Bud Pragma drew a walk, Mike Martinez doubled and both scored on Mike Stanton's single to centerfield.

In the seventh, with two out, Martinez tripled and tied the contest by scoring on a fielding error. Warrior Dave Dombek's drive rolled away from the centerfielder after bouncing off his leg.

The next five innings saw a pitching duel between Steeler John Scott and Warrior Mike Stanton.

Steeler Coach Bob Stegenauer and Warrior Coach Conrad Champion agreed that "excellent fielding and clutch pitching on both sides" led to the tie.

Each school used three hurlers. North started Leo Martin, followed by Bill Dickerson in the third and Scott in the seventh. Warrior Ray Smith pitched two innings and Bud Pragma two, Stanton entering in the fifth.

South outlived the Steelers 9-7 and committed two errors. North erred once.

Collecting hits for North were Petri three, Breckner two and Davis and Logas, one each. For South, Stanton had three, Martinez two and Jim Kafka, Paul Mushill, Mike Gagich and Gary Hiller, one each.

North had advanced in the district meet after defeating Collinsville 7-4. South drew a first-round bye.

Carmody bolsters ISU grid defense; await McMillon, Williams this fall

Letterman Dave Carmody of Granite City was among those contending for positions in the defensive secondary during spring football drills at Illinois State University, Bloomington, Normal.

Coach Gerry Hart will welcome back seven defensive starters, all of the offensive backfield regulars and all wide receivers for the fall season. He concentrated this spring on enhancing the offensive line.

Improving the overall outlook will be the presence of two Granite City high school seniors, John McMillon, 6-11, a 230-pound tackle from North

High, and Dale Williams, 6-0, a 170-pound running back from South High. McMillon has received Prep All-America recognition.

Illinois State U. scholarships have been awarded to a total of 24 incoming grid candidates for the fall season. The prospective freshmen have both size and ability, Hart reports.

South seeks its 3rd Cahokia title

Granite City South trackmen will go after their third championship in six years at 5 p.m. next Tuesday in the Cahokia invitational. The event had been scheduled for Tuesday, May 14, but was postponed because of wet grounds.

Cahokia captured its first meet and South took the top honors in 1970 and 1972, and is the defending champion.

Of the 17 scheduled events, South athletes held records in six: 220-yard dash—Stan Stajdhar (22.6) 1972; 120-yard high hurdles—Mike Allen (1:46) 1970; 180-yard low hurdles—Allen (19.3) 1970; pole vault—Bob Kratz (19-9) 1973; discus—Brad Hiles (164-8) 1973; and the 880-yard relay squad of Dave Carmody, Willie Arnold, Greg Becker, and Stajdhar (1:31.8) 1972.

Competing also are GCHS North, Madison, Monroeville, Edwardsville, Belleville West, Centralia, Lebanon, Roxana, Triad, Collinsville, St. Paul of Highland, Waterloo and Carbondale.

South golfers to vie in sectional; edge North squad

Warriors of GCHS South will join Alton and Edwardsville tomorrow in the Lebanon sectional golf meet, fresh from a 167-164 victory over cross-town rival GCHS North.

South edged North Monday on the front nine holes, par 36, at Arlington Heights. Don Gresco totaled 41, Bill Strubel, Mark Harbison 42 and Ron Moti 43. Steelers were Tim Behrens 44, Rick Bohnehl 42, David Dodson 42 and Brian Winfield 44.

Alton, Edwardsville and South advanced to the sectional at the Locust Hills Country Club by their one-two-three finish in the past weekend's GCHS North district held here. Individual medalists also earned the right to compete tomorrow—three from Alton, two from Edwardsville and one from Fairbury.

Plans for the annual local Knights of Columbus-Shriner sausage fest to be held Sunday, June 2, were made at a meeting of committee chairman Tuesday night.

At its mid-May meeting, Tri-City K. of C. Council 1098 made plans for an admission degree for new candidates at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23, at the K. of C. hall.

Dr. J. R. Vasiloff, grand knight, and Robert McCormick, reviewed the state convention and it was noted that the state council has provided $1,000 to the local "Oath" organization aiding handicapped children.

The Rev. Lawrence Mattingly, chaplain, spoke on "Mother's Day" and refreshments were served to Council 1098 by Rich Kierski.

Coyne assumes IBI post

Law Enforcement Director Harvey N. Johnson, Jr. has announced the appointment of State Police Lieutenant John N. Coyne of Peoria as assistant to the agent in charge of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation Springfield office.

Coyne took a one-year leave of absence from the State Police, effective May 1.

Coyne, a native of Chicago and an 18-year veteran of the State Police, will be assistant to Robert Bullock, recently appointed assistant superintendent of the IBI for field operations.

Coyne will work with Bullock as head of the bureau's organized crime and narcotics divisions.

Tyus, Allen, Becker, Macios setting SIUE track records

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville track team, which is closing its successful 1974 campaign against Principia College at Elash this week, is being aided substantially by Quad-City athletes.

Coach Jack Whitted's Cougars entered the season's finale with a 4-1-1 dual meet record, the only loss being to Bradley U. School records have been broken or tied 20 times.

Although most of the team will call it quits after the Principia meet, three members will participate in the NCAA Division Two Championships.

May 27-31 at Eastern Illinois University.

Those three are senior George Tyus of Madison in the 100-yard dash, junior high jumper Kevin Dooley and a junior hurdler, Granite City Mike Allen. All three hold SIUE records in their events.

Allen claimed another honor during the weekend by winning the state collegiate championship in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles. Running in the 22-school University of Illinois Invitational at Champaign, Allen won his event in 31.1 seconds on a rain-soaked track.

His performance provided SIUE with all its team points as the Cougars placed 11th with 10 points. Several other Cougar runners reached the finals but did not place.

Senior Carl Mason of Chicago broke a school record in the 800-yard run with a time of 1:54.2.

Freshman Greg Becker of Granite City also set a new mark with his time of 50.3 seconds in the 440-yard run.

And Freshman pole vaulter Dave Macios, also of Granite City, tied the SIUE record for the second time this season with a vault of 13'6".

Members of the Granite City Board of Education have approved the recommendation of Joe Fedora, director of athletics, that one additional assistant football coaching position be created for the new North High School.

In a letter to the board and Supt. B. J. Davis, Fedora noted that at the present time our coaching staffs at North and South are equally staffed with the exception of football.

A six-member football staff for GCHS North was originally recommended, with the provision that staff size would be evaluated and reconsidered for the 1974-75 school year.

At the end of the past football season, North High had only 13 fewer candidates out for football than South High, he said, adding that due to the success of North the squad size may increase there.

Shotgun deer season applications June 24

Applications for permits to hunt deer during the shotgun season will be accepted by the Illinois Department of Conservation beginning June 24.

Department Director Tony Dean said 96 counties will be open to hunters this year for the split season Nov. 15, 16, 17 and Dec. 13, 14, 15. This in nine more counties than the 87 open last year.

"Last year we sold every permit available," Dean said. "We expect to do the same this year, so prospective hunters should get applications in on the first day they are accepted for processing."

Applications received before June 24 will be returned.

All applications will be processed on a first come, first served basis beginning with those received in the mail on Monday, June 24.

Applications received over-the-counter in the Springfield office will be processed after those received in the mail on the same day. To be certain an application reaches the permit office on June 24, it should be placed in the mail on Friday, June 21.

Application blanks are available from conservation police officers, sporting goods dealers and license clerks; at

Track Trojans triumph

Madison trackmen avenged an early season loss to Belleville Althoff Monday by defeating the visitors 7-63. The event was to be a triangular meet but Waterloo failed to participate because of illness.

Three-year letterman Willie Shearney set the pace for Madison by capturing three events — pole vault (10-6), triple jump (40-1) and high jump (5-4).

First place honors also were earned by Kelvin Boyd in the 100-yard dash (10.2), Joe Young 220-yard dash (24.4), Ivan Simmons (118.1), Alfred Crawford long jump (18-9), the 800-yard relay squad of Young, Lamont Garrett, Osborn Lomax and Boyd (1:37.2) and the mile relay squad of Lomax, Jay Bush, Garrett and Boyd (4:18).

Taking second in the meet were Thornton Wiggins in the two mile run, Chris Stanley 120-yard high and 330-yard low hurdles, Young 100, Mike Terrell 880, Bush 440, James Turner discus, Lomax pole vault and Garrett, triple jump.

There were third-place finishes by Terrell, Tom Harris, Simms, Alvin Wigfall and Crawford.

Flyers win Southwest track meet, South 5th

Warrior trackmen figured in 10 out of 18 events during the weekend in earning 29 points to take fifth place in the Southwestern Conference meet at Alton.

East St. Louis' Flyers ended Alton's six-year reign by out-pointing the Redbirds 83-70.

Third was Belleville West, 30; points, fourth Edwardsville 29, sixth Belleville East 20, seventh Chokila 15 and eighth Collinsville, 2.

Point earners for GCHS South were:

Two mile relay squad, fifth (4:25.3); Dwayne Terry two mile run, second (9:47.2); Jay Bush, fourth (4:28.5); 440-yard relay squad, third (45.8).

Wilson stars with bat but Trojan nine is eliminated

Madison's nine wrapped-up its 1974 baseball season with a 6-12 record in bowing to Edwardsville 12-2 Monday in district competition at the Tiger's LeClaire Field.

Tiger hurler Bob Eihausen walked one, struck out nine and allowed only two hits in the contest, while his teammates collected nine hits. Madison made five errors and the Tigers four.

Trojan Coach Ron Davis started six-game winner Jon Henke. He walked four and struck out seven before yielding to Kevin Werner in the sixth.

Cedric Wilson, who hit safely in every game this season except one, connected for Madison's only hits in the game and also scored Madison's only runs.

Wilson started the second inning with a double, advanced when Emmett Timmons and Henke reached base on fielding errors by the pitcher, and scored on an attempted pickoff at second.

Wilson homered in the sixth, the Tigers scored twice in the opening inning, once in the third, four times in the fifth and five times in the seventh. Tom Beck batted twice in the seventh and drove in four runs in that inning.

Study fire protection plan

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, 2800 Angela Drive, was appointed Monday night as Nameoki Township fire inspector, replacing Wilmer Winter, who is retiring from the town inspector post.

The appointment was made by the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors at its regular meeting. At the meeting, possible ways of supplying fire protection for the East Madison, Eagle Park and Bend Road areas were discussed.

Louis Whitsell, township supervisor, said he had met with Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison to ask if fire protection can be extended to East Madison and Eagle Park by the Madison Volunteer Fire Department and if arrangements can be completed to include the Bend Road area in the jurisdiction of that department.

It was noted that special fire protection insurance for homeowners could be obtained, benefits payable to the city of Madison, which would guarantee that firemen and the city are compensated for fire calls to those areas.

Whitsell said future meetings are to be held to discuss this possibility. He also said a bill is pending in the state legislature to allow townships to collect a special tax in areas without fire protection and the tax could be used to contract for the protection.

He urged support of the bill by state legislators representing this area.

The Bend Road area has been without fire protection since several of the trustees of the Bend Road Fire Department dissolved the district and sold most of its fire equipment last month.

The board voted to change the date of a public hearing on the township's budget from May 29 to Monday, May 27, beginning at 7 p.m. The regular town board meeting will follow the public hearing.

The board tentatively agreed to accept a bid for expansion and remodeling of the town hall, pending satisfactory progress with the contractor in reducing the cost of the project through revisions in the plans.

Initially, a contract was planned in the building, but the auditors have indicated they may not complete or furnish a courtroom, if an adequate savings would be possible.

The bid accepted was from R. W. Becker Co., Inc., Hamel, for $55,262. Five other bids were rejected.

The board discussed the proposed annexation by Granite City of two housing projects near Maryville School. It was contended that the school, which was obtained by "illegal" annexation, "can not be used as a contiguous point from which to further annex."

Board members indicated the school annexation was not protested because the school is tax free and no revenue was lost, but it was contended that losing the housing projects could cause a tax loss to the township which would be directly linked to the school's annexation.

The board agreed to see what course of action Granite City decides to take before considering legal action on the annexations.

Water samples taken by Mr. Hawkins indicated sewage pollution six times the limit set by the state for sewage effluent and showed a high concentration of fecal coliform bacteria. Typhoid, diphtheria, hepatitis and other diseases are dangers of polluted water, Mr. Hawkins pointed out.

Two bills for attorney services contracted by Bell to help negotiate a contract with striking highway workers were disputed by the board and were struck over the objections of Whitsell.

One bill was to an attorney for services contracted by Bell to help firm for $300. Whitsell commented that since the township and highway department have an attorney on retainer, he was attracted by the town board, the highway commissioner should not contract with outside attorneys for consulting or legal services.

Nick D. Vasilief, the township's attorney, said the highway commissioner, Albert Bell, could contract for outside legal services, provided money was budgeted for legal services.

Whitsell pointed out that paying the two bills would overdraw the budget for attorney services by $66, and therefore a part of the money would be spent without budgeting.

Whitsell cast the only negative vote on payment of the bills.

Several disputes between the township and the board developed during the meeting. For the first time at a meeting, Whitsell read the bills in voucher form, each voucher requiring signatures. Several board members objected, saying they preferred a bill list, as had been used in the past.

Whitsell said he has found that a law in pending in the state legislature which would allow townships to use bill lists for approval, but that the law has not passed. All bill lists approved were passed legally, by error, he added.

Vasilief said he did not see any legal problems to approving bills from a bill list, as long as each bill approved was properly approved.

Such listings have not been made in the past. Whitsell, who openly disagreed, said he would like Vasilief to put that opinion in writing so the township would have it for future protection if legal questions arise.

A motion by Auditor Kenneth Gieson to contract for limb hauling for the Miracle Manor area died for lack of a second. He had proposed that a trash hauler from that area be retained to collect limbs for $30 per load.

Whitsell said he felt if the service were provided for the Miracle Manor area, it should be provided to all areas of the township. The issue was referred to the township's environmental advisory committee.

Carl Runge, attorney for a group of citizens fighting reassessment in the township, reported the court has dismissed the first suit filed by the group but has left legal means open for a second suit on Constitutional objections. He said he will refile the amended suit.

Whitsell informed those present that tax protest forms are available at the town hall, 4250 Highway 162.

A letter from the board to striking highway department employees was read at the meeting. The letter informed the employees that the township has discontinued payment of its share of life and hospitalization insurance on the employees and they will have to pay the full premiums for the insurance if they wish coverage during the strike.

A letter was read from William Schooley, resigning from his duties at the township attorney, highway department attorney and attorney for the proposed four-township sewer program.

Whitsell said Horace Calvo has been retained as the new attorney for the sewer program and that the planning group hopes to meet soon with officials in Springfield to assure that the project retains a high priority rating for funding.

Whitsell read a letter he has received from a Stratford Lane resident who was critical of a lack of fire hydrants and poor road conditions in her neighborhood.

The board voted to purchase a stencil printer from A. B. Dick Co. for $1,106, minus a 10 per cent discount and a $50 trade in for the township's old machine, a total of $966. The bid was the only one received for a stencil machine.

Only one bidder responded on a request for gasoline prices for the township this fiscal year. Melvin Allmon, a Gulf Oil Corp. distributor, submitted prices of 39.6 cents-per-gallon for premium gasoline, 36.4 cents for regular and 32 cents for diesel fuel. The bid was referred to the township's road and bridge committee and the highway commissioner for study and a recommendation.

Mrs. Moses dies

Mrs. Lucille F. Moses, 50, of 2316 Ridge Ave., East St. Louis, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis Monday. She apparently suffered a heart attack while working at the Oscar Nester Glass Co., East St. Louis.

Mrs. Moses was a member of Federal Retirees Chapter 1097, of Granite City. Her husband, Roosevelt, who survives, also is a member of the organization. Services will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at St. Paul Baptist Church, East St. Louis.

Bids were opened for stop signs and were referred to the same group.

Residents objecting to a lack of action on a condemned house in Miracle Manor were told the issue is awaiting disposition by the court. Whitsell was requested to write the chief judge and request a speedy hearing on the matter.

Gieson asked the board not to retain a township secretary who left her job during a dispute, but later returned and withdrew her resignation.

Whitsell said the board has no right to discuss hiring or firing his employees. "You would not expect me to turn my duties over to any employee hired by someone else," he said and told the auditors he feels he has full authority over the staffing of the township hall.

In other business, Whitsell informed the board the township's general assistance grant for May will total $9,751, down slightly from past months.

The town board meeting was followed by a board of health meeting at which means to provide mosquito abatement during the highway employees strike were discussed. Whitsell was asked to study the feasibility of contracting with a private firm to spray against mosquitoes.

Prospective workers must get Social Security number

Students and others planning to get summer jobs should apply for a Social Security number now if they don't already have one, according to William Kerr, district manager in East St. Louis.

"Most employers won't hire people unless they have a Social Security number," he commented.

"Delaying your application might delay your employment or cause you to lose time and wages in a job requiring a Social Security number."

"People applying for a number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity and citizenship," Kerr noted.

The East St. Louis offices are at 650 Missouri Ave. (telephone 274-2200, ext. 335) and 6710 State St. (398-5412).

Two Granite City students have been named to the achievement list of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo.; students must have a grade point average of 3.00 to 3.49 to qualify.

The students are Miss Joan Louis Bartels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bartels, 2500 Washington Ave., and Miss Daria Christine St. Ivary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. Ivary, 2114 Clark Ave.

A charge of illegal transportation of liquor was filed against Mark S. Houchins, 17, St. Louis County. Charges tentatively were filed against seven other persons, and conferences are scheduled with the Madison County state's attorney concerning possible charges against four other persons.

A window air-conditioner was stolen over the weekend from the ticket office at the site. The building was entered through a rear window after an apparent attempt was made to enter a front window.

The board voted to purchase a stencil printer from A. B. Dick Co. for $1,106, minus a 10 per cent discount and a $50 trade in for the township's old machine, a total of $966. The bid was the only one received for a stencil machine.

Arrested on six charges

Ricky Greenman, 21, of 2807 August Ave., was arrested at his home at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday. Six charges were filed against him police said.

He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving, failure to give information following an accident and having no driver's license in connection with an alleged accident in which the parked van of Biltmore Moving and Storage Co. was struck at Lincoln Avenue and Henry Street earlier Tuesday, by a motorist who fled the scene.

He also was charged with reckless conduct and aggravated assault after allegedly displaying a knife and threatening Granite City Police Capt. Everett Kelly as Kelly attempted to arrest him.

Police were called to Greenman's home on a disturbance complaint and said when they approached, a man ran to the back door of the home. The door was locked and the man kicked it open and ran inside. He reportedly threw a vase through an open window.

Officers had a girlfriend of the man go inside and talk to him to try and convince the man to surrender. The man said he wanted to talk to an officer and Capt. Kelly went inside.

Kelly said he found the man holding two broken bottles to his throat, saying that he said he would commit suicide if police attempted to arrest him.

Kelly tried to convince him to surrender and the man ran to the kitchen of the house, obtained two butcher knives and threatened Kelly.

The policeman said he backed out a doorway and closed a screen door, holding it closed with his foot. The man who was still inside reportedly swung at Kelly, putting the knife and his arm through the screen door.

Capt. Kelly said he then talked the man into surrendering.

The victim said a boy came to her door and asked if she would like to have newspapers delivered to her home. She declined and said the boy forced his way inside her home and asked for a drink of water.

After drinking the water, the boy displayed a knife, told her not to scream or he would stab her. He then criminally assaulted her, she said.

He asked her for money and she gave him the $2 she had in her purse. The boy then fled, warning the woman not to tell anyone about the incident or he would kill her. He reportedly returned to her home Tuesday and police arrested him.

Cannabis arrest

Roger B. Erdmann, 22, Edwardsville, was charged Tuesday by security officers at SIUE with possession of more than 30 grams of cannabis.

Arrested on the parking lot near the SIUE General Office Building about 10 a.m., he was taken to the Madison County Circuit Court, where bond was set at $5,000.

Officers alleged Erdmann's auto was parked illegally, and the car was being towed when bags of cannabis were observed inside. Erdmann returned to the lot and was arrested.

Bugged by Watergate? See 'The Conversation'

By GENTRY TROTTER
For KMOX-TV

The art of eavesdropping probably began way back in the caveman era, when one person listened to the other through those large stones, and you know that took a pretty good ear.

Do you remember those Indians and scouts who pressed their ears upon the sand and mud, listening intensely, for the pitter-patter of their enemies? And some people got up from the ground dazed, only to find themselves minus an ear, because their hearing wasn't that great.

Since that time people have been using sophisticated electronic equipment.

Now, for those who participated in the Watergate affair, you'll just love Paramount Pictures' "The Conversation," starring Gene Hackman.

I am not knocking this PG-rated flick, per se, because it is put together well and Hackman does a darn good acting job. But, just how many eavesdropping episodes can one take?

"The Conversation" receives my rating of three fours for good.

The rash of Kung Fu movies is just becoming unreal.

After seeing Columbia Pictures' "Lighting Swords of Death," I think enough is enough.

After seeing this R-rated flick, you'll probably duck the next one, and throw rice at the producers of such exploited movies.

This one gets my duck and rice rating of one four for poor.

I know there has to be a good movie around, but if there is, ain't nobody talking.

There's a modern day Lone Ranger and Tonto movie out, and Universal Pictures is the guilty party.

"Newman's Law," starring George Peppard and Roger Robinson, just proves one thing—that the movie world is just gutted, with confusing and sad cops and robbers films.

I enjoyed the bullets and shattering glass better than I enjoyed the story and the performances. I rate it fair.

I am not suffering from spring fever, and as far as that goes I don't have hoof and mouth disease.

But something has to be wrong, when a person comes out of a motion picture screening room singing, humming and enjoying the music score better than the art of the film.

The American Film Theatre's production, "Rhinoceros," is a failure when it comes to understanding of the basic purpose of making a film.

Oh, sure, Zero Mostel, who changes from a human being into a rhinoceros, has that jutting, articulate ability to act.

And Gene Wilder, always playing a loser, does a spiffy job, as does beautiful actress Karen Black, who still remains intact although being type-cast as a sexy, goofball character.

This PG-rated flick has no logic. And while we see people being transformed into rhinos, we actually don't see live ones.

If you take a play of the stage and place it on the screen, the purpose is to add realism, and the American Film Theatre failed to provide such.

It receives my "disappointing" rating of two fours for fair.

State to help hemophiliacs

A new program to provide financial assistance for hemophiliacs living in Illinois is being put into effect by the state health department, according to Dr. Joyce Lashof, director.

The program is primarily for persons who cannot afford the expensive treatment necessary for victims of the disease and who cannot qualify for other programs that assist hemophiliacs.

Victims of hemophilia suffer from a shortage of blood clotting factors which otherwise prevent excessive bleeding. Thus, they are sometimes unable to stop bleeding from simple external cuts or internal hemorrhaging—unless treated with special clotting drugs or blood components.

To minimize bleeding, hemophiliacs need "replacement therapy," a treatment that may cost as much as $10,000 a year.

In order to participate in the new program, hemophilia patients must be enrolled. Dr. Lashof said. Information concerning enrollment and the program may be obtained from: Hemophilia Program, Illinois Department of Public Health, 1130 S. 6th St., Springfield, Ill. 62703.

GC park opera trip schedule

Reservations for 1974 summer excursions to the St. Louis Municipal Opera, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, can be made starting Tuesday at the Wilson Park office, Harold Brown, park district director, said today.

Nine trips are planned, all on Tuesday evenings, starting with "Take Me Along" starring Gene Kelly on July 2.

Several outstanding productions are scheduled during the 1974 season, including "Over Here" with the Andrews Sisters, July 9; "I Do, I Do" with Carol Burnett and Rock Hudson, July 16; and "Man of La Mancha" with Herschel Bernardi, July 23.

Only 45 tickets are available for each show, Brown said.

The park director added, "Due to the demand for tickets last year and the fact that we had to disappoint so many people who came in after the first day the tickets went on sale, I would suggest to anyone interested in obtaining tickets to be at the office when it opens at 9 a.m. Tuesday."

Cost of the trip this season will be $7.00 for the ticket and $1.50 for bus transportation, or $2.50 for the package.

Other shows are: "Gypsy," starring Angela Lansbury, July 30; "Good News" with Alice Faye and John Payne, Aug. 6; "Bitter Sweet" with Roberta Peters, Aug. 13; "Mack and Mabel," starring Robert Preston, Aug. 20; and the Moiseyev Dance Company, Aug. 27.

GC town building plans advanced

An ordinance by which Granite City Township accepted from the Granite City School District the Central School property at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue as the site for construction of a new town hall building was enacted by the Granite City Town Board in a special meeting last night.

In a related action, the town board, which is made up of aldermen of the City Council, approved a resolution appointing Henry Gabris, an architect to arrange the razing of the old Central School building and to prepare design plans for construction of the town hall building.

The ten aldermen present voted unanimously for approval of both the ordinance and the resolution on motions made in both cases by Alderman R. E. Robertson.

The ordinance asserts that it is to the best interests of the township to build its proposed town hall in the downtown area because, if township government is placed out in the next few years, the building would be close enough to the City Hall to allow the city to utilize the town building as a City Hall or a City Hall Annex.

The location at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue also would provide a centralized location for residents and senior citizens groups who may have need to utilize the building, the ordinance said.

The bill also includes an agreement under which the township will give to the school district the use of 2,900 square feet of space for seven years in exchange for transfer of the school building.

Nelson Hagnauer, township supervisor, has said the proposed town building will include meeting rooms and recreational facilities for senior citizens.

The township has appropriated $540,000 for the building this far. Of the amount $500,000 is set up for construction and the other $40,000 is expected to finance razing of the old school building. The budget is yet to be approved in a public hearing and town board meeting June 3.

Hagnauer asked the board in last night's meeting to approve an $8.10 appropriation that is included in the budget for aiding senior citizens, noting that the township plans to lease a downtown location as temporary meeting and resting place during the period the town building is under construction.

Red Cross elects Hildebrand

Robert J. Hildebrand, trust officer at Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, was elected chairman of the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter at the annual dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Granite City Army Installation's officers Club.

Principal speaker was Colonel Harry L. Bush, a 33-year career officer and newly assigned commander of the Granite City military facility. Hildebrand succeeds David V. Fox of First Granite City National Bank, who presided at the meeting and introduced the guest speaker. The retiring president was presented an appreciation citation.

Other new chapter officers are: Frank McGinnis, vice chairman; Mrs. Margaret Smith, secretary; and Jack Hood, treasurer.

New members of the chapter's governing board of directors are Milton Morris, Andre Gitchco, Henry D. Karandjeff, Helen Homan, Roger Higgins, Laverda Knobbe, Bill Bright, Jack Hood and Winnie Sasyk. Ruby Winters and Jo Meyer are returning board members.

In a special ceremony, Mrs. Maxine Duniphan, retiring board secretary and Red Cross first aid chairman since 1968, was presented a Clara Barton commemorative medal award in appreciation of "outstanding and devoted service to the Red Cross program."

Miss Pat Nord, field representative for the Missouri-Illinois Red Cross Blood Center, St. Louis, awarded a certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Helen Baran, representing the Quad-City Church Women United organization, sponsors of a successful blood donor program in which 24 local church congregations are participating.

Entertainment following dinner was provided by the Artistic Group of the Granite City Mexican Honorary Commission under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ortiz. Performers included Connie Becerra and Jim Segobiano, who danced "La Bamba" and the Mexican Hat Dance; Monica Grimm, Della Antoff, Julia Mendoza and Sarita Garcia, who presented "Guadalajara"; and Norma Mendoza, accompanied on guitar by Tino Cuevas and Ernie Santos, who sang a medley of traditional Mexican songs.

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, Tri-City Chapter executive secretary, said a total of 377 guests, involving 1,470 contacts, was handled by the local Red Cross office in 1973.

For the same 12-month period, Quad-City residents donated 1,812 blood units during 20 visits by the Red Cross bloodmobile.

More than 1,620 hours were contributed by 320 volunteers to the blood program, it was reported. In addition, 37 nurses and nine doctors volunteered their services at church bloodbanks last year.

Mrs. Duniphan announced 300 first aid certificates were awarded in 1973, including 123 multimedia, 28 junior first aid 125 standard and 24 advanced first aid certificates.

In its water safety program, the local Red Cross chapter issued 145 beginner certificates, 41 swimmer, 31 advanced beginner, 39 junior and 65 senior lifesaving certificates. Michael Jessee, chairman, said.

Handicapped students enrolled in the swimming instruction series numbered 61, with 20 certificates issued to those successfully completing the course, he added.

The Rev. Paul Surbey, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ and a Red Cross board member, gave the invocation and benediction at the dinner. About 65 were in attendance.

Concert Sunday—1 col.—18-2. R. Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Louise) Scott will present a piano and violin concert Sunday at the 9 a.m. and 10:20 a.m. worship services as St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Namooki Road, according to the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey, pastor.

Mrs. Scott is completing work toward her master's degree in string instruments at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. Her husband is currently working on his Ph.D. as a pianist at Washington University, St. Louis.

The couple will perform F. Major Sonata No. 3 by Handel, "Adagio" and "Allegro Movement," and "Adoration" by Felix Borowski. Special recognition will be accorded to graduating high school seniors at Sunday's 9 a.m. service, the Rev. Surbey said.

Students help arrange mass

A mass arranged by high school students of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine was conducted Sunday at St. Margaret Mary Church in observance of Mother's Day in one of a series of masses being conducted once each month by the young people of the church.

Permission was granted a group of CCD high school students last October to take an active part in celebrating Sunday masses during the 11:15 a.m. services once each month. The students, freshmen through seniors, prepare the mass, and furnish the music which consists of two guitarists and three vocalists. Vocalists are Anita Landman, Jane Harding and Alan Schuler who also plays guitar, and Donna Lawrence, also a guitarist. The music is under the direction of Mrs. Jeanne Nunn.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Ellen Wilson and Bill Lubben, CCD teachers, the students serve as ushers, servers, lectors and assist with the offertory. The teachers maintain close contact with the priests who are to serve the mass so they may coordinate the sermon with the mass. Using the theme of the mass, the young people make banners to decorate the altar and help prepare the prayers.

The Mother's Day mass this week was the eighth youth mass in the current program. Miss Lea Ruth served as lector. Participants in the offertory were Joan Range, Judy Siebert, Christy Webb and Janet Hoelter. Servers were Randy Boyer and Kieth Huber and ushers were Jack Walsh, Ed Hesseldehn, Sam Nesbit and Ed Webb.

Ask the Governor

Q. If mercuric oxide is continually dumped into our rivers and streams, I understand that no animals living in the water will be able to survive. What is the state of Illinois doing to clean our waters and stop companies from contaminating with mercury?—Carpentersville.

A. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is the watchdog of our lakes and streams. It monitors the construction and operation of pollution control equipment, public water supplies and sewage treatment plants. The EPA also certifies operation of these environmental safeguards and administers the 1970 Anti-Pollution Bond Act, which provides grants to municipalities for waste water treatment improvements.

The state EPA maintains nearly 620 water quality monitoring stations on Illinois streams and lakes. At these sites technicians take regular readings of mercury, oxygen, acidity, fecal coliform bacteria, and more than 20 other elements.

Your concern about mercury is understandable in light of the widespread incidents of food poisoning in the last 20 years, often as a result of eating contaminated fish. The inorganic mercury occurring naturally in the environment is not dangerous. However, organic mercury, the byproduct which results from scientific and industrial application, is potentially harmful when ingested by fish which might be eaten by man.

To reduce these mercury byproducts from industry, the Illinois Pollution Control Board established regulations in 1971 requiring that every person who uses more than 15 pounds of mercury per year file a list with the EPA stating the type and quantity of mercury products and derivatives produced. The statement must also include the estimated amount of mercury discharged into Illinois waters and specific steps planned to reduce or eliminate the amount discharged. The reported number of institutions using 15 pounds or more of mercury has decreased from 580 in 1971 to 169 in 1973.

The drastic reduction in the amount of mercury in the water samples collected by the EPA substantiates the cutback reports by the institutions. To calculate the amount of mercury reaching the waters is difficult, because some of it is absorbed in the product being manufactured and some dissipates through the air ventilation system. A three-year study by the chlor-alkali industry, the largest user of mercury, reports that the industry was able to reduce discharged mercury by 86 percent, mainly by recirculating waste water and installing lagoons and settling ponds.

100 at GCS Women's banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Granite City Steel Women's Association was a festive occasion on Tuesday evening at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

Cocktails were enjoyed from 6 o'clock to 7 when an extensive smorgasbord dinner was served. A total of 100 women from a club roster of 128 members attended the event.

A "Holly Hobbie" theme was reflected throughout the table appointments, favors, invitations and program booklets, with arrangements of spring blossoms in pale yellow and green adding to overall decor of the club dining room.

Ceramic plaques painted with Holly Hobbie figures and standing on gold wire holders were placed at each table setting as favors.

The plaques were handmade by association officers, Mrs. Peggy Solberger, Mrs. Dorothy Rushing, Mrs. Nellie Dierker, Mrs. Jane Lybarger, Mrs. Marge Burkhardt and Mrs. Genevieve May, who arranged the program.

Mrs. Pearl Campbell, a retired employee and most senior club member, offered the invocation. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Rushing, president, and Mrs. Solberger, Program chairman.

Introduced the hostess committee.

Holly Hobbie gifts gaily wrapped in matching paper were presented to Mrs. Jean Hermes, Mrs. Char Lee Baldwin, Mrs. Mildred Clements, Mrs. Jo Ann Bauer, Mrs. Joyce Harris and Mrs. Doris Thompson.

Entertainment was furnished by Alan Bogovich, accordionist, and Miss Peggy Marlin, vocalist, who performed several selections.

An election of officers will take place at the June 11 meeting, Mrs. Rushing announced.

Beer, bingo, betting key to State Fair success?

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record Staff Writer
It was a flashing display of the Walker style.
Gov. Daniel Walker's "three beer" injection of beer, bingo and betting to rejuvenate the Illinois State Fair surprised and confounded his Capitol critics.

As the shock waves receded there was a growing feeling that the unpredictable governor had scored again with the Illinois man-in-the-street.

Even among cynics, there was a growing feeling that Walker had recognized before others that the public has become receptive to major changes in the tradition-bibbled State Fair.

True, as in the past, there was a ripple of criticism from the deeply religious about bringing back beer after a 20-year moratorium. From farm spokesmen, there were some misgivings about plans for pari-mutuel betting on the harness races.

But this was to be expected and Walker no doubt had discounted such criticism in advance.

In Springfield, where criticism of the fair and how it is managed has been a universal habit for years, there was quiet acceptance and some notable enthusiasm about the Walker changes.

"I haven't been out there (the fairgrounds) for years, but I'm going out this year" was a typical comment.

What appears to have impressed the citizenry, whose attendance is vital to the fair's success, was his direct approach to the long-standing problem of how to attract more people to the annual event.

All sorts of experiments have been tried but attendance has steadily declined and red ink has persisted. Several years of hard-line economy halved the peak annual deficit of $2 million, but left the fair a dull and drab affair.

The fair lost its sparkle in 1953, many contend, when Gov. William G. Stratton banned beer. Walker said his changes will "add a little zest and spice" and make the State Fair fun again.

Beyond the specific issue of the Illinois State Fair, Walker has displayed the master politician's art of gauging the public mood. His skill in this area may be approaching that of Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Illinois is a cross-section of the United States and Americans today are depressed, weary and frustrated by an array of energy problems and Watergate.

They are in a mood to welcome a little lightness, fun and relaxation. What better recipe than beer, bingo and betting at the State Fair? From a practical political standpoint, Walker can't lose in his bold moves.

If crowds at the fair pick up this year, as appears likely, he will receive the credit. If the changes don't work out, most fair supporters will be inclined to give him credit for trying.

Even more specifically, Walker with his "three beer" maneuver has undercut his party rival, Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, in decisive fashion. Hartigan's proposal for a volunteer clean-up of the fairgrounds has been quickly obscured by Walker's new policies.

Even the long-ferred backlash to beer, bingo and betting which kept the fair morally strait-laced for two decades is likely to be subdued. The legislature in recent years has made bingo legal and established a state lottery. The legal-age for drinking beer and wine has been lowered from 21 to 19.

Betting at Illinois race tracks has long been accepted, and taxes help finance state government by approximately $50 million a year.

Board sets hearing date

A hearing on the recent dismissal of a Dunbar school teacher by the Madison Board of Education has been set for 7 p.m. Thursday, May 23, at the request of the teacher during a special meeting of the board Thursday.

At an April 29 meeting, the board passed a resolution to dismiss the teacher because of problems involving her, the students, other teachers and the school administration.

In other action, the board education approved a bid call for janitor supplies for the 1974-75 school year.

Friends of Lovejoy install officers

Newly-elected directors installed were R. J. Spahn and David Huntley, both of Edwardsville; Mrs. Gordon Wood, Collinsville; Marvin A. Solomon, East St. Louis; and Mrs. James Henderson, Granite City.

Following the dinner, two St. Louis musicians, popular Mississippi River ragtime performers Trotter Tichenor, piano, and Alan Stricker, banjo, performed.

Three exhibits displayed at SIUE

Bowen Center contributors honored

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, Granite City, were among those honored at the seventh annual volunteer recognition ceremony held this month at the A. L. Bowen Children's Center in Harrisburg.

Volunteer recognition is an annual event at the center in appreciation of the efforts of individuals and civic groups during the past year assisting the Bowen staff to fulfill their responsibility for delivery of health care services to physically disabled and emotionally disturbed residents.

Dr. Albert J. Shafter, superintendent of the center, and Mrs. Emilee B. Robertson, volunteer services coordinator, awarded Mr. and Mrs. Stuart certificates of recognition for their yearly contributions to the center's Christmas programs. Additionally, George Pulianus, vice-president of administration for the Granite City Steel, division of the National Steel Corp. also received a certificate of recognition.

Three years ago Stuart, an employee of Granite City Steel, began a yearly drive among the steel company employees to gather donations for Christmas gifts for the children.

His fund raising enterprise now includes the Steel Works and Blast Furnace Division of Granite City Steel as well as assistance from several Granite City area civic organizations. Donations last year came from the Granite City area. Dr. Shafter pointed out that the drive is a Christmas tradition.

addition to all the individual gifts purchased, Pulianus authorized Stuart to purchase a stereo for the center as a gift of the company. The center's activity therapy services staff is now using the stereo for resident recreational events.

Jack Roberts, director of mental health education for the Division of Developmental Disabilities, Department of Mental Health, in his keynote address to the gathering of residents, volunteers and staff characterized volunteers as "The catalysts, the energizers, that pump personality into our facilities in the Division of Developmental Disabilities."

That definition aptly describes Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, Pulianus and employees of Granite City Steel, Dr. Shafter said.

Miss Jackie Phuski, maid of honor, wore a long blue dress fashioned with a beaded bodice. Bridesmaid Miss Kim Sykes was attired in a green gown and Miss Tina Adams, also a bridesmaid, selected a yellow

Pre-concert lectures

Miss Beth Ann Ledbetter, a senior in music at SIUE, gave pre-symphony concert lectures to fifth grade humanities classes at Dunbar School and Louis Baer School.

Miss Ledbetter is coist with the St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra. She teaches privately voice, piano and organ, and is organist at St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church, Granite City.

Her lecture-demonstration was devoted to "Dances" by Beethoven, Brahms, Grieg, Arnold and Copland—music which the students heard when they attended the St. Louis Symphony Student Concert at Powell Hall last night.

Mrs. Mary Quinn and Mrs. Sharon Heubner are the humanities teachers in the Dunbar and Louis Baer Schools, respectively. Bernard Long is principal of Dunbar and Kenneth Williams is principal of Louis Baer.

Attending Symphony concerts and hearing such pre-concert lectures is a central aspect of the humanities program's objective of developing appreciation and understanding of music.

The humanities program is sponsored by the Illinois Department for the Gifted. Mrs. Marguerite Connole is program director.

Nurse diploma

Miss Catherine Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie R. Lee, 3212 Willow Ave., is among 58 students of the Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing and Radiologic Technology in St. Louis who will receive diplomas Saturday during graduation exercises at Graham Chapel on the Washington University campus.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. Miss Lee is one of 54 students who completed the 33-month training program for nurses this school term at Deaconess.

Helen sings of sad, happy days

Perth is about as far from Broadway as you can get, not only in distance but in the mood of the times. But to Perth buttoning up Australia's claim to a great land by flying the flag on the west coast. It was in Perth in 1946, a year after the big war ended, that Helen Reddy, at 4, began a campaign that was to climax 27 years later not only with the conquest of Broadway but with the rest of the country.

Helen sang in Perth's Tivoli Theater with her parents, Max and Stella Reddy, a popular song-and-dance team in Australia.

Tragically, they died the same year that Helen Reddy was voted the best female pop vocalist in this country, in 1973.

And that is part of the very personal background of "Love Story for Jeffrey," Miss Reddy's new album for Capitol. In memory of her parents Miss Reddy sings a hauntingly beautiful "Stella by Starlight" which she imagines her father may once have sung to her mother.

This is Helen Reddy at the top of her art, the exquisite, finely honed voice stretching smoothly for the high notes and sliding into huskiness in the lower ranges.

To hear the album is to learn about her life and the sorrows and the happiness. There is the song, "You and Me Against the World," that recalls the lonely and fearful time when she arrived in New York City in 1966 with her daughter, Traci, then 3.

There is the title song, "Love Story for Jeffrey," which is dedicated to her husband, Jeffrey Wald, a young William Morris agent when she met and married him. It was Wald who recognized her great talent and played a major role in her rise to stardom.

"Ah My Sister" is dedicated to Helen's sister, Toni, and "I Got a Name" is a memorial to the recently deceased aunt after whom Helen was named.

This is Reddy, superstar, at work.

Before trading in the airplane for a starship, the Jefferson Airplane dropped a lot of hits along Album Road and has been released by RCA-Grunt as "Early Flight." This is not a collection; none of the cuts has been recorded previously. But it's got that early era sound and Marty Balin and Jack Casady are still there to give continuity to the group. If you're down, this is the way to go for a lift.

As Ramsey Lewis says, if it's good music, he'll play it—whether it's jazz, rhythm and blues, pop or hard rock.

And that's what you get in his latest album for Columbia: a little bit of everything under the title of "Solar Wind." Good music, an LP, but the Steve Cropper work (and guitar solo) doesn't quite keep up with the company.

Especially such company as "Jamaican Marketplace" and "The Everywhere Calypso." The sound and the jazz touches make you wish Lewis had gone down the line for an album with a total Caribbean sound. There are even a few classical riffs — and they go back a long way, back to the days when Ramsey was studying classical music, before he dipped into jazz at 15.

Overall, however, the album has more of a rock sound than jazz, and how could that be helped with an old R&B man like Morris Jennings on percussion? There also are some updating sounds from Cleveland Eaton and the moog synthesizer — and isn't it about time that the moog itself gets a little dated? You have to choose between Ramsey's jazz piano and some squealing from the moog; there's no contest.

At 39, Ramsey has come a long way from Chicago. And they still can't classify him. Ramsey does it all.

MCA's new release of El Chicano's "Cinco" is not only rock with a Latin beat, it's great Latin rock. Strongly reminiscent of the best days of Santana, especially on "El Chicano," the El Chicano group really gets it all together.

With Bobby Espinosa on keyboards and vocals; Mickey Lespron on electric guitar and 12-string acoustic; Enrique Baeza on congas and percussion; Hector Regalado on timbales, percussion, drums and vocals; Brian Magness on bass; Jerry Salas on electric and acoustic guitar and vocals, and Eddie Rodriguez on drums, percussion and vocals, they get your feet tapping, you have this irresistible urge to do the Mexican boogie. Even if you don't know how to do the Mexican boogie, you'll love "El Chicano Cinco" — it's very happy rock.

Take the considerable talents of singer Harry Nilsson and ex-Beatle Ringo Starr, back them up with some of the finest musicians in pop music, give them a zany movie script and ZAP, CRASH, POW, you've got a Twenty-one evenings of Mississippi River Festival Folk-Pop-Rock concerts—with such artists as Arlo Guthrie, War, Helen Reddy, Chicago, Tom T. Hall, Mac Davis and Anne Murray—have been announced by Lyle Ward, concert manager.

The Festival will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville July 8 through Aug. 23. The new listing is in addition to the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra's concerts and MRP Film Festival announced last month.

Folk-Pop-Rock events will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8:30. Tuesdays will be devoted primarily to folk, ragtime, jazz and bluegrass artists; Wednesdays will feature "rock'n'roll" and hard rock groups; and Fridays will provide entertainment for families, with new and established stars sharing the billing.

The schedule includes: July 9, Leo Kottke, with Steve Goodman and Megan McDonough as special guest artists; July 10, the J. Geils Band; July 12, Rick Nelson and The Stone Canyon Band.

July 16, B. B. King, with Muddy Waters as special guest artist; July 17, Eagles and Joe Walsh; July 19, Helen Reddy; July 22, New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble; July 24, Sha Na Na; July 26, Doc Severinsen and the New Generation Brass featuring Today's Children.

July 30, Celebration of Jazz with McCoy Tyner, Freddie Hubbard and Chick Corea; July 31, Black Oak Arkansas and The James Gang; Aug. 2, Mac Davis and Anne Murray; Aug. 6, Joni Mitchell; Aug. 7, War; Aug. 9, country and western night with Tom T. St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concerts, under the direction of Walter Susskind, will be presented on six Saturday evenings at 8:30 beginning July 13 and six Sunday evenings at 7:30 beginning July 14.

Additional artists to be previously announced Symphony Orchestra programs include: July 14, Eumir Deodato, keyboard artist who recorded the current hit "Prelude Zarabustra" (2001) by Richard Strauss.

He will perform with the orchestra, conducted by Leonard Slatkin. July 21, soprano Karan Armstrong and baritone Richard Fredricks, with conductor John Green; and July 23, popular guitarist Jose Feliciano, with Gerhardt Zimmerman, conductor.

New this season will be film classics—such as Humphrey Bogart films, rock musicals, animated films and an evening of holocaust films—shown on seven Monday evenings at 8:30 under the tent.

Mail orders now are being accepted by the University Center Ticket Office, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Season tickets for Saturday and Sunday symphony concerts are available, as well as coupon books which sell for $20 and contain $25 worth of coupons exchangeable for symphony concerts only.

Season tickets for the film series are $11, providing a savings over the $2 general admission price to the seven showings.

Mini-books at $10 each contain $10 worth of coupons which may be exchanged for tickets to any of the MRP events—musical or films.

Mail orders for single tickets also are being accepted now by the SIUE box office; bi-state area box offices will open June 1.

Solid waste management assistance by East-West

A comprehensive program for assisting the bi-state St. Louis region's counties and municipalities in development of local solid waste management systems has been announced by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Central element in the program will be a series of at least four workshops at which Gateway Council staff members will advise and work with interested officials in development of county and municipal solid waste management plans.

The first workshop has been scheduled for the morning of May 23. Several others will be held subsequently so that all county and municipal officials seeking assistance will have the opportunity to receive it.

The workshops will focus on use of a "Solid Waste Management Kit" prepared by the Gateway Council to guide in the establishment of county and municipal waste management plans.

Initial emphasis will be the Missouri sector of the bi-state area. The kits include instructions, sample ordinances, sample contracts, and alternative steps from which local officials can choose without violating guidelines established by Missouri law.

The steps are presented in simple terms and are designed to afford officials with the greatest possible flexibility in the development of waste management systems.

The workshops and kits are planned in part as a means by which Missouri counties and municipalities can obtain professional help in creating waste management systems required by a recently enacted state law.

Under the law (Senate Bill No. 387 in the 76th General Assembly), all counties and municipalities in Missouri are required to submit plans for local solid waste management to the State Division of Health by June 30.

The Gateway Council, as the metropolitan region's central planning agency, is making its resources available as aids in the completion of these plans. State requirements similar to those now in effect in Missouri have been proposed for enactment by the Illinois General Assembly, and the Gateway Council's assistance program is available to all Illinois counties and municipalities within the region served by the council. Assistance to local governments is one aspect of the Gateway Council's work in solid waste management.

East-West also has been active in developing a regional plan to handle solid waste problems beyond the reach of county and municipal government.

A preliminary regional solid waste proposal was completed a short time ago by the Gateway Council's planning staff and the St. Louis-based firm of Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates.

This proposal, calling for expanded use of energy recovery disposal methods and the creation of regional coordinating organization, has been presented to the Gateway Council's board of directors and is currently under consideration.

Prisoners get hints: how to get out

Now that it has them in custody, the Illinois department of corrections is planning to give every adult inmate a copy of a handbook on how, legally to get back out.

"Sentencing Problems and Remedies of Sentenced Prisoners" is unusual in several respects, not least of which is the fact that one of its two authors is a Franciscan nun working full time as an assistant state's attorney for Cook County.

The other author is Ms. Marianne Twist another full time assistant Cook County state's attorney. The book was produced in collaboration with the department of corrections, Northwestern University school of law, and the Illinois State Bar Association.

Sister Catherine M. Ryan OSF, and Ms. Twist, both of Chicago and both recent NU law school graduates, have turned over the copyright on the book to the ISBA with the stipulation it must be made available, without cost, to Illinois state prisoners. They waived any fee for their work.

The first 1,000 copies of the 64-page handbook were published by the department of corrections. The authors currently are updating it to include last minute legal changes, and a second printing is planned soon. That, however, will be at someone else's expense if the department can get another interest group to underwrite the expense, reportedly less than $400 for the first 1,000 copies. Ultimately, it will take 6,000 to 7,000 copies of the handbook to put one in the hands of each adult inmate. So far, it has been placed chiefly in facility libraries, where it will be available to all facility residents.

With the distribution of the first edition, Corrections Director Allyn R. Siefel said the publication is believed to be one of the first attempts to implement the standards for criminal justice to state prisoners' rights.

Siefel praised the efforts of the two authors and said that the book, while not the final answer to prison reform, is a recognition that civil liberties and basic standards of human decency will not be abrogated in the treatment of residents of the state's correctional facilities.

The handbook includes sections on state court actions (direct appeals, post-conviction petitions, coram nobis, and state habeas corpus), department programs, (turloughs, work and day release, parole, parole revocation and mandatory release), governor's authority (executive clemency and extradition), federal court actions, sample motions and a glossary of legal terms.

The handbook will be given lip service to one of this country's major national problem—that of penal reform. With the publication of this handbook, the department of corrections and the ISBA feel that great strides have been taken to provide a long-needed practical approach to state prisoners' rights.

Personnel policies revived

The hiring practices and substitution call-in procedures of the Granite City Board of Education were discussed by the board at its meeting last week and were referred to committee for study and possible revision.

The policies, adopted Jan. 15, were placed on the agenda at the request of board members at the previous board meeting. George Moore Sr., said he felt the reorganization of the policy committee with the board's reorganization last month should provide a vehicle for improving the district's personnel policies.

The policies require the traditional posting for jobs, screening of applicants and recommending to the board of education the top applicants from whom employees are chosen.

Requirements for selection of substitutes on the basis of dates of application have been deleted.

Norman Hall, board member, suggested the policies be referred to the policy committee for revision.

L. Monroe Worthen, board member, disagreed, saying Hall and all other board members had opportunities to suggest changes before the policies were adopted Jan. 15. He asked if Hall had proposed the changes at that time.

"Yes. Several times," Hall responded. "I voted in favor then because there were many good changes. Now we need some more," he added.

Worthen repeated that every board member was given several opportunities to suggest changes and deletions. Hall replied, "It was my opinion we were changing the policy to meet both local and state requirements at that time, and we were under some deadlines."

Worthen commented, "I resent the insinuation you have made that you have offered these recommendations when they are not a matter of record, and why did you put something in the newspaper that was a lie?"

Moore interjected, "We can iron out any difficulties we have on this thing." Carl Macios, board member, agreed. "That is why we formed a policy committee... to work out these differences and then vote on it," Macios said.

Worthen persisted, asking Moore, "Didn't a member of this board tell you I was chairman of the policy committee and I did not call any meetings? The records state clearly there was no chairman of the policy committee and therefore it was not incumbent on me to call meetings."

Moore, who was appointed chairman of the committee last month, commented the committee had not functioned properly in the past because it did not have a chairman. Moore then seconded Hall's motion to refer the matter to the policy committee.

Worthen then made a motion that all hiring and discussions on personnel in the future be done in open sessions rather than closed executive sessions. "I'm tired of this..." he said. He said that if he discussed information needs to be discussed concerning an applicant, an executive session could be called. "We will handle that on an individual basis," he said.

Moore and Hall jointly seconded Worthen's motion and it passed unanimously.

Moore commented after the flare of tempers, "We are here to run a school district and whatever we feel should be subordinated to what is best for this district."

Bike program—but no money

Illinois has a bikeway program but no money with which to implement it.

However, help may be on the way.

Rep. Harold Katz, D-Glenview, has introduced a bill in the Illinois House to appropriate $3,704,655 to the Department of Transportation for the bikeways program. At the same time, Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, sponsor of the original bikeways legislation, introduced a similar bill in the Senate to appropriate $3 million to the DOT for the same purpose.

The appropriation bill to fund the program was vetoed by Gov. Daniel Walker.

The Comprehensive Bicycle Program calls for the creation of a statewide bikeways program as well as a bicycle safety promotion program. The objectives of the program include education, research, registration and standards as well as the bicycle plan.

Gov. Walker instructed the DOT and Department of Conservation to proceed with planning necessary to accomplish these objectives. An Interagency Council was developed which, in turn, designated a task force group to develop the comprehensive plan.

"The Interagency Council agreed that a key ingredient in a comprehensive bicycle plan must be public involvement," said Melvin Larsen of the DOT. "They have directed the task force group to insure that it has contacted local governmental agencies, park districts, regional planning commissions, private bicycle organizations and individual citizens to identify the needs of the bicyclist."

Presently, their work has been restricted to planning efforts until such time as the program receives revenue sources for physical construction.

The act also authorized the DOT and with the DOT's approval any county board or municipal body, to expend appropriated funds in order to plan and construct officially designated bikeways. The DOT's annual appropriation for purposes of this act must include funds for the development of bikeways.

Too, the act, which was signed into law last fall, requires bicycle riders to ride on the right hand side of the roadway and mandates the observance of traffic regulations by bicyclists using a highway or bikeway. It also requires a bicyclist to use a bikeway rather than a roadway when the former is available.

Open courses at SIUE to college

Students at State Community College in East St. Louis will be able to take selected courses, not available at SCC, through Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville under a cooperative arrangement approved by SIU trustees.

The board authorized a fee schedule which will be equal to the amount of tuition charged by State Community College for a similar number of hours of academic instruction. The tuition will be lower than that charged to SIUE students.

The board was advised that cooperative instruction programs with SCC would be impossible if higher tuition rates were required.

The first cooperative instructional program with SCC is expected to be in sanitation technology. Other programs may be developed in the future.

New steel officials have long financial experience

William C. Hallam, newly-named vice president and controller of the Granite City Steel and Midwest Steel divisions of National Steel Corp., has held those titles at the Midwest Division, Portage, Ind., near Chicago, since January 1969.
Carlton P. O'Brien, GC Steel vice president and controller, earlier was promoted to National Steel Corp. assistant controller and will be based at the corporate headquarters in Pittsburgh.
Hallam, a native of Pittsburgh, received a bachelor of science degree in accounting from the University of Pittsburgh in 1935 and worked in this field with the U.S. Steel Corp. until joining Midwest Steel in May 1959.
Ronald H. Doerr, newly-appointed controller of Granite City Steel, graduated from the School of Business Administration of Washington University, St. Louis, in 1962. Doerr became a staff accountant with Haskins & Sells and joined Granite City Steel in 1966 as a senior accountant. He was appointed assistant controller in 1972.
Eugene L. West, new controller of Midwest Steel, has been assistant controller there since February 1972. He graduated in 1961 from Valparaiso University with a bachelor of science degree.
H. M. Love, president of the two divisions, has noted that Hallam's assumption of full financial reporting responsibility for the two plants reflects "an increasingly close organizational and operating relationship between Granite City Steel and Midwest Steel."

The three newest promotions were disclosed in Thursday's Press-Record.

In Germany

Steven K. Henderson, 23, whose wife, Shirley, lives at 1036 Third St., Venice, has been promoted to Army Specialist Four while serving with the 3rd Infantry Division in Germany.
Spec. Henderson is a cook with Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the Division's 6th Armor in Kitzingen.

With 6th Infantry

Army Specialist Four William J. Dettwiler, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dettwiler, 2509 Stratford Lane, is serving with the 6th Infantry in Germany. Spec. Dettwiler is a medical aidman in headquarters company of the infantry's 3rd Battalion.

AUTO BURGLARY

An eight-track tape player and two speakers, valued at $100, were stolen from the vehicle of John Nunes, 2134 Delmar Ave., while parked in the Granite City Steel lot on 16th Street.

$50,000 suit filed due to fire damage

Vasil C. and Hilda Graville have filed a two-count suit seeking damages totaling $50,000 in Madison County Circuit Court as a result of an early-morning explosion May 2, 1972, in the 800 block of Madison Avenue in Madison.

Graville and his wife were owners of the Four-way Food Shop, 819 Madison Ave., Madison, which was gutted by flames. A son, Jerry, and his family operated the business and was residing in the attached living quarters.

Count one of the suit seeks $25,000 from Illinois Power Co. as the alleged natural gas supplier at 811-813 Madison Ave. The second count seeks $25,000 from Fred and Sharon Hartline, the alleged landlords and owners of the 811-813 Madison Ave. structure.

The suit alleges debris from the explosion at 813 Madison Ave. struck and landed on the Four-way Food Shop and damaged, and partly consumed and destroyed the building and living quarters.

The complaint alleges that Illinois Power Co. allowed one or both natural gas meters and valves to be in such a position as to allow gas to enter the premises at 811-813 Madison Ave.

Price defends appeal for tax cut

Congressman Melvin Price, who has called for a cut in federal income taxes, believes such a measure would curtail inflation rather than increase it. One of the first congressmen to call for a tax cut, Rep. Price told the Press-Record it could increase consumer spending power to meet rising prices.

As a result, demand would increase, creating jobs and staving off higher unemployment, he said.

Administration officials argue that because a surplus of demand already exists, a tax cut creating more demand would only bring on more inflation.

Rep. Price points out that the "inflation is caused not by a demand surplus but by higher production costs and short supplies."

"By cutting taxes," he said, "we can eliminate some of the slack in consumer demand." "At the same time," Rep. Price feels, "if workers have more money to spend, it will moderate pressure for higher wages."

"Thus, not only will a tax cut permit consumer pocketbooks to catch up with rising prices, it will also restrict those prices by reducing wage increases which cause them to rise.

"This is the kind of balance which must be struck in order to stabilize the economy."

The local congressman noted that his view is shared by several prominent economists, including two past chairmen of the Council of Economic Advisers.

In response to Congressman Price's request, the Army Corps of Engineers has agreed that the government should study the feasibility of adding hydroelectric generating facilities to existing projects at Carlyle Reservoir.

Price explained that when the dam was built, hydroelectric power facilities were only marginally feasible. "With the current energy shortage," he said, "there is reason to re-evaluate the power situation at Carlyle."

Rep. Price said several communities, including Highland, Breese and Carlyle, would benefit by addition of electric generators.

The congressman will sponsor a resolution in the House of Representatives requesting that the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors conduct an investigation to determine the present feasibility of hydroelectric power facilities.

The study would require about four years to complete.

On the floor of the House, Cong. Price spoke in favor of legislation to increase veterans' disability compensation to catch up with inflation.

The bill would increase payments to veterans with service-connected disabilities as follows: 10.7 to 12 per cent for veterans with a 10 to 30 per cent disability; 15 per cent for 40 per cent to 50 per cent disabilities; and 18 per cent for 60 per cent to 100 per cent disabilities.

In addition, the award for loss of a limb or certain other single losses would be increased 10 per cent from its current $47 a month.

Dependency and indemnity compensation payable to surviving spouses of children of veterans who died of service-connected disabilities would be increased by 17 per cent.

Rep. Price has pointed out that the consumer price index "has risen almost 13 per cent since the last increase in August 1972. It has risen almost 15 per cent since January 1972 when we passed the last survivors' increase."

The congressman expressed satisfaction with the scaling of increases to give larger amounts to veterans with greater disabilities. "This permits those veterans with greater impairment of earning capacity to benefit equally by the increases," he said.

MERTA plan in making

Lakes Fire Equipment Co., $1.71 per foot.

The bids were referred to the purchasing committee and the fire chief for study and recommendation at a council meeting May 21.

A new ordinance regulating massage parlors and setting requirements for persons working in the parlors was passed by the council.

A similar ordinance was passed several months ago, but was not formally published and therefore not validated. Alderman Robert Don Reeves, Ray Kozielek and Christ Costoff reported they had received several compliments on new street lights being installed at all intersections.

A police report for March listed 2,343 radio, telephone and logged entries. A total of $930 in fines from traffic and other cases was collected during March.

The council approved bills totaling $24,602.

First play school program at North

Child Care classes at Granite City High School-North are conducting their first play school for three and four-year-olds.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday during last week and this week, 17 children have attended at the high school for two hours of activity.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Pat Painter, junior and senior high school girls have programmed activities to increase their understanding of children. All the equipment used has been made by the girls themselves.

They include a puppet theater with puppets, a housekeeping center with stove, refrigerator, cabinets and sink, a large size play house, cars big enough to drive, and stuffed animals and dolls.

The purpose of the play school is two-fold. First, the girls in class observe and work with children, thereby approaching a deeper understanding and appreciation of small children. Second, the children participating receive help in working and playing with other children.

The "teachers" are the high school girls themselves.

They have used their talents together with knowledge and discussions of this age group to plan a program which provides rich and rewarding experiences for these children.

The Child Care class offered at North is open to juniors and seniors with emphasis on care and development of children from conception through 12 years of age, with home nursing and emergency procedures also a part of the course.

Local students in Civic Ballet

The girls are students of the Ballet Arts Academy, St. Louis, and the Salem School of Dance, Granite City.

Miss Luebbert is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Luebbert, 21 Riviera Drive, and attends Coolidge Junior High School. A student at St. Elizabeth School, Miss Szczepanik, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Szczepanik, 2544 Ivy Lane.

School law review

The role of arbitration in education is the theme of the eighth annual School Law Conference which has been rescheduled for Thursday, May 23, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The conference originally was set for April 6.

Sessions will be held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Mississippi-Illinois Rooms of the University Center. Coffee will be served beginning at 8:30 a.m., and a luncheon is scheduled at noon.

Charles Bridge Jr. of Chicago, regional director of the American Arbitration Association (AAA), will give the keynote address on "The Role of Arbitration in Conflict Resolution."

Later in the program, Bridge will present a film, "The Drama Coach Grievance," and David Dolnick, an arbitrator for the AAA, will comment on the decision made in the drama coach grievance case.

Dolnick also will be the chairman of an afternoon question and answer session with four panelists, Curt Hamilton of the Illinois Education Association, Herb Phillips, attorney for the American Federation of Teachers, William Mason, East St. Louis superintendent of schools, and Gary Phillips, Springfield attorney.

Hamilton, assistant director of field services for the IEA, is to talk in the morning session on "Arbitration--The Teacher Point of View."

The viewpoint of educational administrators will be given by Attorney Phillips and John Hunter Jr., president of the Edwardsville Board of Education.

Two periods of group discussions are scheduled on the program.

A group of panelists will comment on the points expressed by representatives of teachers and administrators.

The school law conference is sponsored by the SUE School of Education. George C. Ackerslund, professor of education administration, is general chairman.

Addresses of welcome will be given by W. Deane Wiley, dean of the School of Education, and Raymond L. Lows, chairman of the department of educational administration.

Information on registration for the conference is available through the SUE Conferences and Institutes Office, 692-2660.

Corn planting progresses

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., May 16, 1974 Page 41

By WARREN W. BUNDY
County Farm Advisor
Farmers made good progress last week with spring field work. Some farmers have more than one-fourth of their corn acreage planted.

Start watching for damaging insects in corn that is planted. Black cutworms and flea beetles are among the common insects which can seriously damage small corn plants.

Cutworms cut corn plants off at the soil surface or just below the surface. Treatment is needed to control cutworms when cutting starts. Cutworm moths are selective of fields in which eggs are deposited. So all fields in an area are seldom infested with cutworms.

Flea beetles are pin-head size, shiny black beetles which feed on the surface of corn leaves and cause a silvery appearance of the leaves. When flea beetles are present in numbers sufficient to cause a few corn plants to wilt, it's time to apply control measures.

Continue to check alfalfa fields for alfalfa weevil damage. At this date it may be best to cut the alfalfa for hay and treat the stubble for weevil control.

Armyworm outbreaks in wheat cannot be predicted with accuracy. Wheat fields need to be watched for presence of armyworms.

Some wheat in Madison county was headed last week. Wheat harvest may be a few days earlier than normal this year.

Wheat can be harvested at moisture contents up to 24 per cent. However, for safe storage it needs to be dried to a moisture content around 13.0 per cent.

There are some good reasons for drying wheat, even though it requires fuel which is in short supply. First, drying increases the length of time you have to complete harvest by allowing you to start harvesting earlier in the morning and work later in the evening.

Otherwise, wheat moisture content is too high during these periods for safe storage. Drying wheat also permits earlier harvest and allows you more time for double cropping.

The key to successful wheat drying is the maximum temperature of the drying air. Wheat that is to be used for milling should be dried with air temperatures below 160 degrees F. At higher temperatures, the milling quality is severely reduced.

Wheat to be used for seed should be dried at air temperatures below 110 degrees F. to prevent a reduction in germination.

Any of the four generally available drying systems can be used for drying wheat. These include low temperature in-bin drying, high temperature bin drying using a stirring or circulating device, batch drying, or continuous-flow drying.

Drying rates are somewhat slower than for corn due to the increased resistance of the grain to the air flow.

Since wheat is harvested during the warmer portion of the season, it is often possible to use in-storage, natural air drying. If the relative humidity averages 50 per cent during the time the fan is running, unheated air will dry the wheat to about 13½ per cent moisture.

Hay-making time is near. With high priced protein supplements, the value of early Private Michael G. Turner, 19, son of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Turner, 1217 Market St., Madison, has completed a seven-week basic field artillery (cannonier) course at the U.S. Army Field Artillery Training Center, Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, he learned the duties of a Howitzer or gun section crewman. He also received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

harvest of legume-grass forages is potentially greater this year than it has been for a long time.

The most important single factor affecting protein content and feeding value of hay and hayslage is the stage of maturity at cutting.
High quality hay crops always are harvested at some expense to yield. So it is important to strike a balance between the quality of the crop and the quantity of growth.
Alfalfa and alfalfa-grass mixture should be cut for hay and hayslage when alfalfa is in the initial to tenth bloom stage. The feeding value drops every day harvest is delayed beyond this stage.

Weather, of course, always is a factor in hay-making, and rains often delay the task.

National Steel to install world's widest slab caster

The world's widest continuous slab caster will be built for National Steel Corporation's Great Lakes Steel Division, Detroit, by Wean United, Inc. National Steel operates Granite City Steel.

A major component of National's current 1-million ton expansion program, the caster is expected to operate late in 1976, with a rated annual capacity of 1.2-million tons of carbon and low alloy slabs. "This facility is an excellent example of the progress we are building into our expansion programs," said George A. Simson, chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel. "It will raise shipments while it reduces unit costs both of investing capital and operating expense. Such improvement in productivity is an essential ingredient in generating the improved profitability which we need to support our expansion programs."

It will be the first slab casting installation in this hemisphere to use lengthwise flame slitting of its product. This practice yields a wide diversity of slab widths—as needed to fill orders —from a continuous-continuous production unit operating steadily on a single, optimum slab size.

The curved-mold machine will cast one strand 93-inches thick by 104-inches wide at speeds up to 60-inches per minute. It will be supplied steel by a ladle turret which will make possible uninterrupted casting of numerous consecutive heats.

As the strand emerges, it will be cut into 30-foot slabs for flame slitting down their length into required mill widths.

Flame slitting is the newest concept for increasing the economic and quality advantages implicit in continuous wide-slab casting. It enables a high-capacity production unit to operate steadily, at maximum efficiency, without downtime for mold changes or other techniques needed to furnish the broad range of slab widths necessary to fill the diverse orders placed on a continuous wide hot strip mill.

The nature of continuous casting, as opposed to conventional ingot teeming, is such that to increase significantly the amount of saleable product from a given heat of molten steel. At Great Lakes, it will approximate 200,000 tons of additional hot-rolled coils per year.

Rename Venice park officers

John Mitchell was re-elected president of the Venice Park Board in a reorganization meeting held at the Park Recreation Hall, Third Street and Broadway, Clifford Canner was re-elected vice-president.

Leroy Kutz was reappointed secretary, Margaret Pechte was reappointed treasurer and Harry Hartman again was appointed as district attorney. William Spencer was reappointed as superintendent of parks and Charles Simmons was reappointed recreation director.

INJURED IN MISHAP
Amos Johnson, 61, of 1759 S. Wayne Ave., struck his forehead and sustained a neck injury in an auto accident during the weekend. He had x-rays taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released.

State must be paid in many highway crashes

Pity poor Robert. While driving down Interstate 55, in a slightly inebriated condition, he ran off the side of the road and hit a light pole.

He smashed his car and injured himself and, to make matters worse, he received a bill from the state for $800.

The reason? After careful field investigation, he was found liable for the accident, which makes him liable for the damage done to state property.

Luckily, he had insurance which covered the loss. But had he been uninsured, the debt would have been personally charged to him.

Damage to property owned by the Department of Transportation occurs daily. Last year, 7,000 reported accidents caused damage totaling $3 million.

Of this amount, $1.8 million was returned to the treasury, according to Robert Graham, DOT claims supervisor. Most such accidents involve damage to highways structures.

When an accident occurs involving mobile or immobile DOT property, it triggers a chain of events that may take from four months to three years to complete.

"We probably have 200 to 300 cases in litigation all the time," Graham said.

The procedure for determining liability and damages involves the police, DOT personnel, insurance companies, the party involved and, often, outside contractors, engineering consultants and the courts.

Besides time and paperwork, it's an expensive mistake. For example, Robert was lucky his bill was so low: the cost of replacing a light pole varies from $800 to $1,200, according to Graham.

A broken traffic light will cost from $600 to $1,200 to replace or repair.

"Because of a signal's function, immediate steps must be taken to control the traffic, which adds to the cost," explained the supervisor. "Too, most replacements must be done by outside contractors."

If possible, repair work is done by DOT personnel but oftentimes it requires contracted services. The cost of labor and distance traveled must be added to that of the materials used.

You're really in trouble if you destroy a truss sign (a sign over two lanes of a highway). That may cost up to $20,000.

"We always limit the damages to the repair cost," Graham commented. "If it is decided to upgrade the damaged property, the DOT will absorb the increase."

And then there was the truck driver whose load of magnesium caught fire on a Chicago freeway. Thinking he would minimize personal damage should the load explode, he parked it under an overpass. Well, the truck didn't explode, but fire damage to the bridge resulted in a $165,000 settlement.

If all this scares you and you're thinking "If I ever hit a bridge, I'll run," think again.

"We've had pretty good luck with finding these drivers," noted Graham. "In this type of accident, the vehicle doesn't come away unscathed."

"We function on this principle: the taxpayers of Illinois have to pay for the property in the first place. If an individual damages the property, we are going to go after the cost of repair."

New links between 2 dental schools

An agreement aimed at maximizing cooperation and avoiding unnecessary duplication by the dental schools of Washington University and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by Dr. John T.

Bird, dean of the WU School of Dentistry, and Dr. Stanley P. Hazen, dean of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine.

The deans said the new agreement will make it possible for both institutions to best utilize the facilities, staffs and physical facilities of the two schools, while avoiding expensive duplication.

"The agreement has already made it possible," Dr. Bird noted, "for Washington to share two faculty members from SIUE in teaching areas in which our own faculty is short-handed right now."

Dr. Hazen added, "We feel it is especially timely to announce this agreement now that the Illinois State Dental Society and

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., May 16, 1974 Page 43

Missouri Dental Association have joined for the first time to present an Illinois-Missouri Gateway Dental Meeting in St. Louis. Both events herald a new era of interstate cooperation among dentists and dental educators in Illinois and Missouri. The public, in the long run will derive much benefit from this."

Among the objectives of the agreement between the two schools are promotion of coordinated curriculum planning, identification of existing and potential programs that could be exchanged for mutual benefit, and further extension of clinical training opportunities into the communities served by the schools. Additional joint activities are being considered by the two deans.

Contract between Foundation, SIUE

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has authorized signing of a contract between SIUE at Edwardsville and the SIUE Foundation at Edwardsville, providing for payment of a sum mutually agreed on for services performed for the university by the Foundation.

The contract is similar to one signed previously between SIUE and the SIUE Foundation at Carbondale, except that the Carbondale contract provided for payment of $60,000 a year. The SIUE contract specifies a minimum payment of $30,000 a year, with a $60,000 a year maximum. Under the contract, university payment of Foundation staff salaries and office rent qualifies toward payment of the annual sum to be agreed upon.

SIUE now provides administrative staff and office space for the Foundation in return for services.

The Foundation is a not-for-profit Illinois corporation established to aid the two SIUE campuses in activities not normally provided by state appropriations.

It has helped previously by providing scholarships, loans and grant, patent and copyright assistance, purchasing and paying for real estate, and receiving and holding gifts made for the use of the university.

The contract binds the Foundation to solicit and receive gifts on behalf of the university, solicit, apply for and manage research and service grants, act as agent for the university in obtaining patents and copyrights, and market any inventions developed under the patents or copyrights. It will also act as depository for funds and gifts received by the university and invest and expend the funds for the benefit of the university.

Term of the contract is from May 1, 1974, through June 30, 1975. It will be extended from year to year unless either party gives notice of termination 90 days prior to expiration of the original contract or any extended term of the agreement.

Transcript mentions Granite City

Granite City is mentioned in the White House conversation transcript submitted to the House Judiciary Committee by President Richard M. Nixon April 30.

A segment is being interpreted as showing that the White House disagreed with an initial Justice Department assumption that the 1971 merger of Granite City Steel Co. into National Steel Corp. should be opposed by the government. If it intervened, which it did not, the U.S. would have contended that the merger would reduce competition. In contrast, many believed that the merger was vital to avoid closing of the local plant.

In Washington, some wanted to oppose any merger within the steel industry. Others said "bigness per se" should not be attacked without regard to economic justification, nor should competition from large foreign mills be ignored.

Part of an April 15, 1972, conversation, in the exact sequence of the remarks, follows. (A St. Louis newspaper article reversed the order of the conversation).

Pres. Nixon—I want to see what (Attorney General Richard) Kleindienst told (unintelligible) and since he's asked, I will.

John D. Ehrlichman—I'll be here, and if you want me for anything, why not bother. I—Well, look, I'll just listen to him. He has come in so often. I can say on TTT (International Telephone & Telegraph), of course, we didn't. My basic responsibility (unintelligible).

(Assistant Attorney General in charge of Antitrust Richard W. McLaren settled this case or something like that, and a...)

E—Yeah.

P—(Unintelligible).

E—No, that wasn't to settle a case.

P—No, not wasn't.

E—That was not to file an action. You remember they were about to file a lawsuit and.

P—How did we know about it?

E—(Presidential Aide Peter M.) Flanagan found out about it.

P—You can't tell me?

E—I came and told you about it.

P—Why?

E—(Unintelligible) may have forgotten the details.

P—Why didn't they think they should file an action?

E—Well, P—I am sure it was a good reason.

E—Yeah. We had a run... P—(Unintelligible) we had a runaway Antitrust Division at that point.

P—Yeah, and I had been raising hell with McLaren... E—That's right.

P—On all this, and I said now this is a violation of my policy.

E—Not on.

P—(Unintelligible) a violation of rules that I had laid down with McLaren.

E—And I will testify to my dying day that our approach to antitrust cases has (unintelligible) virtually without variation, on policy rather than the merits of the individual case.

P—Wasn't that case (unintelligible)?

E—There was one exception to that. And that was that Granite City Steel case where we criticized their analysis—the Council of Economic Advisors did.

P—Yeah.

E—And we went back on them on the specific case rather than just the general policy. That was on a factual issue.

Needs of students, taxpayers motivate Belleville College

By DR. H. J. HABERAECKER, President.

Belleville Area College. In September 1946, Belleville Junior College was established as a public junior college.

When the Junior College Act was passed by the legislature, the district was expanded and Belleville Area College emerged.

Through the years, the College has served the needs of its constituency with a quality educational program.

Its administrators, outstanding faculty, and members of the boards of trustees have been dedicated to providing not only top educational programs but also the areas of baccalaureate transfer curricula, outstanding occupational and basic education programs but also community services activities.

Belleville Area College is truly a comprehensive college serving all the people.

It has placed special emphasis on sound occupational programs.

Because of our long history, we have been able to develop not only a large number of these programs but their quality is proven by the employment record of our graduates.

Granite City students, through the years, have been invited and graduated from Belleville Area College in the areas of data processing, police academy and law enforcement, aviation pilot training, airplane mechanics, heating and air conditioning, and in many areas of our health-related programs.

We are presently using St. Elizabeth Hospital at Granite City for our emergency medical technician program.

To provide these services, the College has followed a policy of fiscal responsibility and accountability at which it is justly proud.

While the educational welfare of its students has always been the primary consideration, the College has never forgotten the taxpayers of this state.

We have never believed in deficit financing and neither have we practiced it. We have lived within our budgets and have had the courage to say no when financial problems loomed on the horizon.

As a result, the Illinois Community College Board in its wisdom recommended that certain trustees be assigned to Belleville Area College, we did not sit back and do nothing. We immediately did some very careful planning.

We determined that we needed personnel to assume the responsibility of working with the citizens in the area in order to get grassroots sentiments and feelings in regard to their hopes and expectations.

We assigned Bruce Wissore on a fulltime basis and Dr. Warren Nieburg and William Keen on a parttime basis to get this information.

Formal meetings were held with Chamber of Commerce people, school district personnel, industrial leaders and other interested citizens from all walks of life.

As a worldwide organization, The Salvation Army has been serving in international relief work. U.S. Salvationists have supplied and transported relief materials, funds and personnel to such disaster areas as the earthquakes in Nicaragua and Peru, to Vietnam, Bangladesh and floods in the Philippines and Korea.

Now that they have a need, let's back them with our support for the expansion plans on program and building needs.

Captain Kerley and his team are working as diligently for our communities. Let's respond generously.

STEVE BRISTOL

By JOHN L. PALCHIEFF, Madison Superintendent.

Regarding the proposed reconsideration of the decision that Granite City School District Nine be assigned to the Belleville Community College District, although the petition filed does not affect the junior college placement of the Madison School District, we in Madison District 12 wish to reaffirm our position on assignment of the Venice, Madison and Granite City school districts to Belleville.

The Quad-City area has very close ties—politically, economically, geographically and educationally.

Originally we were very much in favor of the establishment of our own "Southwest" community college district. When it was determined that this was not possible, it was unanimously agreed that we would join with the other districts in the area.

This is a well-known general condition of flooding related to the Mississippi River. I have seen and read these lines in the form of maps, letters and newspaper clippings.

It would be most unhumanitarian act for legislators not to include us in the United States Flood Insurance program and to make sure a mistake is being made.

MRS. HELEN M. HAWKINS, 2600 Angela Drive

Exhaustive discussions were held in regard to the best way to proceed in order to most effectively meet the needs of the area.

At the present time we are in the process of finalizing the employment of coordinator consultants to operate extension centers at Granite City, Madison and Venice. We mean one for each community.

These people are from the individual community being served and have expertise in education and a working knowledge of the area to be served.

Not only are adult education courses to be offered, but regular college credit courses are to be offered in Granite City. Our planning has been structured so that these courses can and should begin in the fall semester of 1974.

We are encouraging the development of as many courses as there are student interest and facilities available.

This will permit the residents of Granite City, Madison and Venice to determine the size and scope of their operation.

Such community service activities as short-term and long-term seminars and workshops in all areas presently being held in the district will also be held in the newly annexed areas.

We do not short-change any of our taxpayers. We have fully met our commitments in previously annexed areas to the letter and fully intend to do so in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Realizing that there are students from this area who are presently attending Lewis & Clark Community College and other junior colleges who wish to complete their educational programs at these colleges, the Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College has, at a regular board meeting, authorized payment of charges back to whatever college these students are presently attending.

We believe this is in the best interest of students and they are our primary concern.

In order that the residents of Granite City and surrounding areas can communicate directly with Belleville Area College, several months ago, we have been successful in establishing a toll-free telephone line directly to the College from the Tri-Cities area. This service has been useful in establishing good communications.

You will note I have repeatedly referred to Granite City, Madison and Venice.

The reason I have done so is that people in these areas have always expressed to us a desire to continue their identity as the Tri-Cities area and working together for quality education and community services.

We think the business community, industry, school officials, the news media and everyone concerned who have been working with members of our staff in planning for quality educational and community service programs for the residents of this area.

Quad-City area should stay within same college district

By JOHN L. PALCHIEFF, Madison Superintendent.

Regarding the proposed reconsideration of the decision that Granite City School District Nine be assigned to the Belleville Community College District, although the petition filed does not affect the junior college placement of the Madison School District, we in Madison District 12 wish to reaffirm our position on assignment of the Venice, Madison and Granite City school districts to Belleville.

The Quad-City area has very close ties—politically, economically, geographically and educationally.

Originally we were very much in favor of the establishment of our own "Southwest" community college district. When it was determined that this was not possible, it was unanimously agreed that we would join with the other districts in the area.

This is a well-known general condition of flooding related to the Mississippi River. I have seen and read these lines in the form of maps, letters and newspaper clippings.

It would be most unhumanitarian act for legislators not to include us in the United States Flood Insurance program and to make sure a mistake is being made.

MRS. HELEN M. HAWKINS, 2600 Angela Drive

decided that the entire area would become annexed to the same junior college.

Our preference, after much discussion, study and reporting from the Junior College Study Committee, was to become annexed to the Belleville Junior College District.

The reasons for this were many. Some of the most important were:

(1) Most of our students are already going there (80-90 per cent in Madison).

(2) The curriculum offering is much more comprehensive.

And (3) it would be much more economical for our taxpayers (20.8 cent Belleville rate against 27.3 cent Lewis and Clark rate).

The importance of all three districts remaining together begins with the greater strength that such a unit would have in establishing centers of learning in the area.

With two established adult vocational centers already in the area—Venice-Lincoln Adult Vocational Technical Center and Granite City School District Vocational Center—and the great diversity of industry already located here and served by our citizens, it is imperative that we remain together to coordinate better a cooperative junior college program that will more directly meet the needs of all our people.

State tax increase not desired; tax cut proposal appears to be unrealistic

Drafting a budget for a state as large and economically diverse as Illinois is a difficult challenge at any time, especially in a year when the nation is squeezed by the problems of inflation and threatening recession.

It is understandable that considerable uncertainty has developed concerning the proposed state budget for fiscal year 1975, which begins July 1. Gov. Daniel Walker has proposed an outlay of approximately $7.9 billion in state spending for the 12-month period. It is at this point that agreement about the state financial situation ends.

The budget issue came into focus at a conference sponsored in Springfield by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

The governor called on the state's business leaders to help him hold the line on legislative requests for new spending. Unless the legislature is restrained, Walker said, there will have to be a tax increase.

However, the State Chamber in a study of its own said that Walker's own budget calls for the state to spend more than it takes in and that if the trend continues a tax increase will be inevitable within two years. It disagreed with Walker's contention that he will be able to avoid a tax increase and even reduce taxes by using carry-over funds to cover spending outlays in his budget.

The carry-over surplus for the 1974 fiscal year is estimated by staff of State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon at $162 million. This compares with a surplus of $174 million available at the start of the current fiscal year.

The State Chamber also takes issue with Walker on his revenue estimates. It says the governor may have overestimated revenue from the new state lottery and from gasoline-related taxes. Concern has been expressed in other quarters that any serious business recession could sharply reduce anticipated revenues from the two basic sources, the income tax and the state sales tax.

The Chamber has also voiced an opinion, shared by others, that Walker's budget people may have underestimated the amount that will be needed to pay the state's welfare and school aid obligations.

It is significant that Maurice W. Scott, executive vice president of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois and a noted authority on state finances, has voiced doubts similar to those of the Chamber's. Scott has termed any talk of a tax cut as unrealistic.

The preliminary discussions have now set the stage for the legislature to begin its serious consideration of administration budget proposals. They merit the closest scrutiny. So do the proposals of many individual legislators, which would increase state spending and provide additional revenue needed to cover them.

Fortunately the legislature has already moved to limit the current session to permit concentration on budgetary matters. This was a wise move. The weeks ahead provide an opportunity for careful, constructive appraisal of all spending proposals. The lawmakers, as well as the governor, must realize that the taxpayers of Illinois will insist on full value for every dollar spent and are in no mood for tax increases.

A person can accept not being worth his weight in gold. What's scattering is finding you're not even worth your weight in pork chops.

State acting to improve procedures in selecting highway consulting firms

Illinois in recent years has moved to the forefront among the states in the scope of its highway building and rehabilitation program.

It has, unfortunately, paid a price in this surge through questioning and criticism of some of the procedures through which the state awards hundreds of millions of dollars in highway contracts.

Nine contracting firms and four individual contractors were suspended by the federal government from bidding on highway projects after they had been indicted by a federal grand jury in Danville and later were found guilty of rigging bids.

At the expiration of the federal suspension they were suspended for an additional six months by the Illinois Department of Transportation. Some contractors have challenged the legal authority of the DOT to suspend them.

It will probably be some months before the legal issue is resolved.

However, the DOT has announced that at the direction of Gov. Daniel Walker, new procedures establishing strict regulations governing bidding practices for highway contracts have been drafted and placed in effect.

The new regulations, it is said, are designed to prevent unethical conduct and shoddy work and to assure "accountability and openness" in the selection of consulting engineers and architects for DOT projects.

A key provision of the new plan is establishment of a six-member panel which will decide which consulting firms will receive non-bid contracts for highway design and planning contracts. In the past selection of these firms has been left to the DOT's director of highways.

As detailed by Transportation

Secretary Langhorne Bond, consultants henceforth will be selected by a panel composed of four Transportation Department employees and two public members. Bond will appoint one of the public members, and the other will be named by the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

In contrast to the old system whereby consulting firms were chosen in virtual secrecy, they will now be selected through a public information program similar to that which accompanies the call for bids and awarding of contracts for actual highway work.

Bond relates that DOT officials will advertise through news releases and that information will be sent to all qualified architectural and engineering firms, that engineering proposals are needed for a specific highway project. Of proposals received, 10 will be selected. From the 10, the six-member panel will select the best.

The new rules will also provide that consulting firms disclose ownership, financial status and the firm's experience in order to qualify for state consultant work.

What the new program does, in effect, is to shed public light on one phase of the highway contract awards procedure, which has heretofore been veiled. The consulting firms are key factors in the highway program and they should receive the same detailed scrutiny as do the contractors who do the work on the roads.

Costly idling

Candidates for 1976 who start running too early can waste a lot of gasoline by leaving their bandwagon idling for two years.

Salvation Army a friend when needed

To the Editor:

Flames swept through a home in the early morning hours. Now a uniformed man talks quietly to a tiny child in his arms. The family has lost everything it owned. Firemen are working hard to contain the fire. The Salvation Army is at work here.

The man comforting the child is Salvation Army officer. The canteen refreshing the firemen with hot coffee and sandwiches bears the Salvation Army red shield on its sides.

Temporary shelter and meals for the family, and household goods, furniture and food supplies to help them resettle will be provided by the Salvation Army.

This is an example of compassion in action, which is what the Salvationists' red shield represents.

For millions of Americans each year, the 370 Salvation Army emergency canteens have come to mean heaven on wheels.

The Salvation Army wastes no time in dispatching equipment to comfort the bereaved, and emergencies—fires, floods, tornadoes, explosions, earthquakes, forest fires, etc.

The Salvationist is a well-known figure to victims and to rescue workers, police, firemen, and military, Civil Air Patrol and volunteer teams.

In drastic situations, Salvation Army trucks, canteens and personnel from other locations can be brought in to provide concentrated assistance to a stricken area.

Last year in the United States, Salvation Army Emergency Services served food to 1,282,555 people, gave lodgings to 4,050, provided furniture and clothing, etc., to 67,958 and other services to 236,254 persons.

And we saw them in action locally in connection with the Chouteau Island flood... on duty day and night.

Salvation Army rescue teams serve to comfort the bereaved, reunite families, accompany the injured in ambulances and answer telephone inquiries from anxious relatives.

As a worldwide organization, The Salvation Army has been serving in international relief work. U.S. Salvationists have supplied and transported relief materials, funds and personnel to such disaster areas as the earthquakes in Nicaragua and Peru, to Vietnam, Bangladesh and floods in the Philippines and Korea.

Now that they have a need, let's back them with our support for the expansion plans on program and building needs.

Flood insurance must include Dobrey

To the Editor:

It appears some of our people have been recently told our water problem will not qualify for payment under the Federal Flood Insurance Program.

It is hard for us to understand this. Many of us have worked hard to promote such a program, but it has been an "uphill battle" from the very beginning mainly because there are those who do not want development halted on the floodplains.

For example, this statement is that even after we flooded so badly in 1969, building went on inside the Dobrey Slough area until finally the state of Illinois put a moratorium here, and had to ask the local governments and the Levee District to abide by it.

Not only do the rising waters of the Mississippi River affect us directly, but our homes were built over an identifiable body of water that is an intermittent lake when we get a lot of rain. When it floods and overflows its natural banks the water has no place to go but into our homes.

The first time our homes flooded was in 1969 when the Mississippi River was at a high flood stage and moved back into the tributary stream which is us. It stayed in this backwater shed for almost one year.

Conditions were mostly dry until 1973 when the river flooded. Many of our people took advantage of the Federal Flood Disaster Assistance.

The only way we could get these programs, such as Small Business Administration, Loans and Housing and Urban Development Department help, was because of the rising waters of the Mississippi River.

Legislators may wonder why many of us have not called for an insurance adjuster as to date. It is our feeling and fear that the worst is yet to come after the water goes away.

After the 1973 flood and the water left that fall, we had only a few months until January 1974 when the rains came and pushed the river near flood stage and caused the lake bed here to overflow its banks again.

We had the river and our own intermittent lake to fight over.

We do not consider our problem as common as other areas in the American Bottoms, because we are so close to the same elevation as Horseshoe Lake. This is more gashers than a seepage problem, and in some cases we have over 40 inches of

Need to begin new Altoon dam, locks this year—Col. Peterson

The Army Corps of Engineers this week acted to clarify misunderstandings on the project for replacing locks and dam on the Mississippi River south of Altoon.

Current plans call for construction to start this year on two new 1,300-foot locks and a dam two miles downstream from the old structure.

Several federal and state agencies and some conservation organizations have expressed concern that the designed replacement of locks and dam 26 would allow the passage of 12-foot draft tows and would pave the way for a 12-foot navigation channel on the Mississippi River, a project not authorized by Congress.

This concern is founded on the fact that the lock chambers, as designed, will have a depth of 21 feet, and the sill depths are to be 18 feet below the minimum water surface elevation. Col. Thorwald R. Peterson, district engineer, told the Press-Record Tuesday.

Despite the 21-foot depth of the lock chamber, the locks have been designed specifically for nine-foot draft navigation, he said.

The required depth of water in the lock chamber for safe and efficient operation of any large, modern lock is dependent on the difference in water levels above and below the dam, the filling time, and the amount of turbulence generated during the filling and emptying operations," Col. Peterson explained.

"Extensive research studies and the use of hydraulic models indicated that the optimum depth for the new locks would be 25 feet.

Remodeling at Dental School

Plans and specifications for remodeling of three buildings at the Alton Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been approved by the SIU Board.

The buildings will be used by the School of Dental Medicine. Trustees also ratified hiring of Thompson Associates of Troy, Ill., as architects for the project.

The renovation will be financed by a $179,574 grant from the National Institute of Health, the second to be received by SIUE as "start-up" money for the dental program.

Under terms of the grant, funds must be encumbered by June 30.

The present administration building at Alton will be transformed into a supplemental dental clinic, with eight or nine chair stations.

Uncompleted space in the new clinic now in operation will be expanded by adding eight or nine chairs. A third building will be renovated to provide additional office space.

Trustees had authorized the remodeling in principle at their March meeting, subject to final approval of designs.

Most praise schools, urge career training

Most Illinoisans believe that schools are doing a good or even excellent job.

A similar majority rates education as one of the most important concerns for government, second only to the question of health care.

These public opinions were disclosed by the University of Illinois Survey Research Laboratory and Michael J. Bakalis, state school superintendent, in a press conference Monday. The survey firm was commissioned to do the study by the state education office.

Other findings cited were:

1. The general public in Illinois believes a greater portion of school costs should be paid by the state—but a majority of the public is not willing to pay for the increased cost through higher state taxes.

2. The public believes that confidential student files should be open to parents only, and that even students should be denied access to the records. Teachers, principals and superintendents don't believe that students or parents should have access to the students' files.

3. Four out of five teachers believe the state legislature should pass a bill providing the lock, but the reduced efficiency was balanced against a reduction in the first cost."

Col. Peterson said that 16-foot sill depth was selected to provide adequately for the draft of the tows and for the accumulation of ice on the bottom of the tows during winter operations.

There must be adequate clearance between the bottom of the tow and the sill to permit the water to run out of the locks as the tows are being moved. Corps of Engineers records, photographs and interviews with lockmasters and tow pilots indicate that a nine-foot buildup of ice on the bottom of tows is not unusual in severe winter operations.

He also pointed out that the design of the dam for the new locks and dam 26 will not permit the pool level to be raised higher than that of the existing Altoon pool.

In response to those concerned with possible adverse environmental impacts, Col. Peterson said that a draft Environmental Impact Statement has been filed with the Council on Environmental Quality, and that a final updated EIS will be filed with CEQ prior to the initiation of construction.

The EIS discusses the several alternatives investigated and details their sociological, environmental and economic impacts.

In citing the need for replacement of the old structure, Col. Peterson indicated that early action is required "to facilitate the movement of waterborne commerce in this key segment of the Mississippi River navigation system."

"The old facility, completed in the 1930s, has serious structural problems."

"Traffic through the existing locks passed the practical design capacity of 46 million tons in 1970. In 1973, traffic reached 51 million tons and continues to increase in excess of three million tons a year."

"Long lockage delays are being experienced, creating a serious bottleneck in the overall navigation system of the Mississippi River," he continued.

2 elementary teachers here named outstanding in nation

Two faculty members of the Granite City Community Unit School District have received national recognition as outstanding teachers.

They are Mrs. Robert (Josephine) Wagner, Edwardsville Rural Route Seven, McKinley Grade School remedial reading teacher on the staff of the Pre-School Center, 245 Logan Ave., and Mrs. Gilbert Jean Hall, 2570 Boyle Ave., Maryville Grade School lower primary level.

Those named have been Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America for 1974. Nominated by their principals earlier this year, they were selected for the honor on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for exceptional services, achievements and leadership in the field of elementary education. Each year, the biographies of those honored are featured in an awards volume.

The educators are now eligible to receive the Outstanding Elementary Teacher of the Year award trophy. Five $500 unrestricted grants will be awarded to the schools represented by America's five outstanding teachers.

Judges, along with the board of advisors, will select the five individual elementary teachers to be honored. In this way, the program thanks the teacher and the school for their contributions to the continuing excellence of American education."

Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, director of the program, commented this week. "The men and women chosen for this high honor have explored new paths, developed new insights and effectively communicated their knowledge to their students and colleagues. They are exceptional teachers."

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

school boards were doing their best. Teachers fared the best, with 74 per cent (average) of all replies saying instructors are doing either a good or excellent job.

School board member and administrator responses to the questions generally reflected that teachers are doing good jobs.

In no case did one group say the other was doing less than good or excellent overall.

Opinion leaders' responses followed the same pattern as school board members and administrators when asked to rate the jobs of the same three categories. The opinion leaders placed each group in the good to excellent category by the following percentages: teachers, 83; administrators, 74.8; and school board members, 74.7.

Teachers placed school boards and administrators in the good to excellent category by the respective percentages of 64.2 and 75.5.

The general public category rated boards, administrators and teachers to be doing good to excellent in the following percentages: 66, 64.6 and 70.2. For the same respective categories, students gave the following responses: 49, 58.4 and 71.2 per cent.

The same groups of respondents, except students, were asked to select from seven areas of concern for state government which area they considered to be the most important. Education was named second most important, just behind health concerns, by the public, and ranked even higher among those who work for schools.

The seven categories in the order of their ranking by six adult groups are: health, education, natural resources, economic growth and economic control, public safety, public aid and welfare and transportation.

In relation to the other six areas of concern, education was considered most important by teachers (83.5 per cent), school board members and administrators (69 per cent) and opinion leaders (52.6 per cent).

The respondents were asked to rank the areas of government concern according to the following ratings: very important, somewhat important, not very important, not at all important.

The public ranked education as very important by a huge majority of 91 per cent. But since the public rated more than one area of concern as very important, respondents were asked to make a choice among these. Health was first with 33.1 per cent and education was second with 30.8 per cent.

Most of us never stop to analyze how we read, and maybe we should, for there are many efficient learned techniques that could help you read more quickly and with more comprehension. These techniques are outlined in a new fourteen-part series The Eyes Have It, recently produced by Channel 9.

The instructor for the series is Jeanette Appel(above), a teacher at Hanley Junior High in University City, who has taught reading skills for a number of years. Basic to her reading improvement system is motivation—you must have a strong desire to increase your skill if you plan on making rapid progress.

Future Secretaries elect

A new board of directors was elected at the concluding meeting of the Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association chapter at GCHS-North cafeteria.

The new leader of the organization is Anita Simmers, GCHS-North, who was elected president.

Other officers elected were Sheryl Patton, vice-president; Jo Elaine Foster, recording secretary; Cheryl Davis, corresponding secretary; and Melissa King, treasurer.

Completing the board are Dorothy Miller and Carol Schweierjohn, board members at large. Installation of the new officers will take place this fall, along with initiation of new members.

The grades of students who have taken the required number of business courses will be checked this summer, and those who meet the chapter standards will receive a letter inviting them to become members of the Future Secretaries Association. Those interested will be given further information at a meeting to be held shortly after the start of the new school year in the fall.

There will be a meeting of the full board of directors this summer at the home of NSA advisor, Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, to formulate plans for the 1974-75 school year.

Graduating seniors reported on their "Day in the Office." Jill Scarborough reported on her activities in the president's office of SIU at Edwardsville, with NSA member Lana Randolph; Sharon Mang, Edison Bros. Stores, Inc., with NSA member Beth Bladick; Karen Bellinger, St. Elizabeth Hospital; Pat Stanton, Ralston Purina Co. with NSA member Joyce Savitch; and Diane Daugherty, WMRV Radio Station in Belleville.

The chapter had received a transistor radio as an award for selling over $75 in school pens from the manufacturer of pens, and it was decided to use the radio as a prize at the final meeting. The winner was Debbie Lindner.

Faculty advisors, Judi Sparks and Lucille Aramowicz, were present at the meeting, as well as NSA Chairman Mrs. Vunovic and Joyce Savich of the Tri-Cities Chapter.

Hope for tax relief

Area legislators are joining Gov. Dan Walker in pleading to hold the line on state spending, prevent tax increases and possibly achieve tax relief in this session of the Illinois General Assembly.

They include Senators Kenneth Hall (D, East St. Louis) and Sam Vadalabene (D, Edwardsville), and Representatives Horace L. Calvo (D, Granite City), Monroe L. Felm (D, Cahokia), Leland J. Kennedy (D, Alton) and James G. Krause (D, East St. Louis).

Gov. Walker commented, "Last year I had to veto more than $1 billion of overspending. There were screams — but time has proved that we didn't really need that money. Services to people did not suffer."

"The legislators joining me now stood with me on those vetoes last year. They fought to help prevent runaway inflation. They are again standing with me on this year's budget."

"There will be demands, pressures and strong arguments for more state spending. Much of the pressure will be for worthy programs. But the state has limited money resources."

"If we are going to have tax relief this year — if we are going to prevent a tax increase next year — we must hold the line on this budget."

Gov. Walker presented his budget March 6, asking the General Assembly to "reallocate state funds for 1974-75 so that tax relief can be realized, state services can begin, while total appropriations are limited to a 3.1 per cent increase over 1973-74."

The tax relief plan—$25 million worth—is a twofold program:

- 1) Eliminating the sales tax on all prescription and non-prescription drugs and medicines, and
- 2) Extending to persons between the ages of 60 and 65 benefits of the "circuit breaker," which provides tax relief on real estate taxes and rentals. The program now benefits persons over 65.
